U.S. Airmen May Join Drive On Hitler Horde

AMERICANS TO DEAL DEATH AS SEPARATE UNIT

Diplomats Believe Aerial Push Will Accompany Other Offensives

"SECOND FRONT" URGED

Diverting Of Germans From Russia Would Be Aim Of Proposed Action

WASHINGTON, April 25—Diplomatic quarters in Washington today believe an American air force will join the British RAF this summer in launching against Germany one of the greatest aerial offensives the world has ever seen.

The American air force is expected to operate a separate unit in the British Isles, but may be under the unified command of a British air marshal.

This combined Anglo-American aerial drive against Germany and German-controlled positions on the European continent is seen likely to form the spearhead of the United Nations offensive action in western Europe.

Second Front Likely

The belief is growing steadily in diplomatic quarters that the aerial campaign will be accompanied by other offensive action, either in the form of intensified commando raids, with American troops participating, or in an attempt to establish a temporary "second front" in Norway or across the English channel.

Purpose of the temporary "second front" would be aimed at diverting German air and land forces from the eastern front and thus easing the pressure on the Russian armies.

However, the diplomats generally believe that the Anglo-American aerial drive will be the "main event" of the offensive action in western Europe this year.

Final plans for the United Nations' offensive strategy in western Europe are believed to be nearing completion in joint staff talks now underway in Washington between leading representatives of the American and British high commands.

Support Voiced

Support for the opening of a "second front" in western Europe this year appears strong in some administration circles.

Among those in congressional quarters who are publicly urging it is Senator Claude Pepper, (D.), of Fla., often regarded as an administration spokesman.

"I am strongly in favor of opening a second front in western Europe this year," he said. "I think Lord Beaverbrook was 100 percent right in advocating it."

"The people of the United States are not a defensive people once they have been attacked. The sooner we get on the offensive, the better everybody is going to like it and the more it will become the character and spirit of the American people."

MRS. F. D. R. DECRIES ANTI-LABOR TALK; RAPS SPREADERS

Says Duty Of American Worker Is To Protect Labor And Wage Standards In U. S.

NEW YORK, April 25—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today called upon labor and the American people to combat an anti-labor propaganda drive which she said has reached into the ranks of the armed forces.

Some "awfully clever people" are spreading the anti-labor propaganda, the President's wife said at a round table discussion on "women workers and war production" at the national headquarters of the Young Women's Christian Association.

OFFICIAL POPS OFF TO SAILOR; GOES TO JAIL

NEW YORK, April 25—John Jacob Vogt, 54, a building superintendent, began serving a 30-day sentence in the workhouse today after being found guilty of disorderly conduct for "offensive remarks" to an American sailor at a downtown bar.

Magistrate Morris Rothenberg, citing a decision of the United States supreme court, held that free speech was not "absolute" in time of war. Vogt, a naturalized Swede, told the sailor he was fighting for capitalists and asked him to choose between Hitler's new order or President Roosevelt's new deal.

LEADERS HOPE F.D.R. WILL BALK DRASTIC LAWS

WASHINGTON, April 25—Administration leaders in congress today looked forward to President Roosevelt's special message on Monday in the hope that it would quell demands for labor and other drastic legislation.

While the senate had agreed to permit Sen. Connally (D) Texas to move for consideration of a plant-seizure bill on Tuesday, which could be used as a vehicle for labor amendments, leaders were known to be seeking postponement of any legislation affecting labor.

The house naval affairs committee had agreed to resume deliberations Monday on the Vinson bill calling for a 48-hour week without overtime, a sharp limit on profits and freezing of labor relations, but house leaders also were understood to be seeking to delay a showdown.

President Roosevelt will put finishing touches on his message over the week end. The message is expected to announce to the nation a general freezing of prices, except on raw agricultural products, at the highest point in March, to oppose suspension of the 40-hour week, to call on government agencies to stabilize wages in accordance with March cost of living, and to urge drastic legislation to take excessive profits out of war.

High officials of the office of price administration disclosed that an important last-minute change had been made in the proposed freezing order, but declined to reveal its nature. The order is expected to embrace canned goods, and thus may indirectly affect many agricultural products.

INDIANS CONTRIBUTE TO FUND FOR MERCY SHIP

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 25—The Laguna Indians at Winslow, Ariz., today campaigned for funds to send a "mercy ship" across the great Pacific waters to aid American troops captured on Bataan peninsula.

The Indians sent a check for $75—a monumental sum considering the meager resources of the Laguna colony—with a note asking that it be used toward a "mercy ship." The check was received by the Bataan relief organization, which is planning to send food and medical supplies to the Philippines.

There were ten Laguna braves with the 1,200 New Mexico troops on Bataan.

General Leads Observance In Commemoration Of Dead At Gallipoli

VISITS NATIONAL SHRINE

Commander In Chief Makes First Personal Appearance Since Elevation

MELBOURNE, April 25—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chosen by the people of the commonwealth to organize Australia's defenses in its gravest hour of peril, today personally led observances of Anzac day, the nation's traditional holiday to commemorate the heroism of Aussie soldiers who gave their lives at Gallipoli 27 years ago.

Gen. MacArthur, escorted by 30 members of his general headquarters staff, came to Melbourne from United Nations headquarters to participate in the annual solemn tribute to the massive shrine of remembrance situated on slopes overlooking the city.

Arriving at the shrine at the head of some dozen staff cars, Gen. MacArthur was greeted by thousands of silently respectful citizens of Melbourne who jammed the impressive shrine stairs hours before his arrival to see their commander-in-chief in his first official public appearance since arriving in Australia.

Greeted By People

As he stepped from his limousine a vast murmur was sent up by the crowd while the assembled men simultaneously raised their hats. He was welcomed by Melbourne's lord mayor, Frank Beaurepaire, while his staff members lined up behind.

A brief smile creased his face as surrounding youngsters voiced enthusiastic praises of the general but he resumed a serious countenance as he began the walk up the steps to the shrine. At the top of the stairs he paused briefly to take a long, searching look at the faces of the crowd standing across the vast shrine lawns and toward the city and surrounding mountains of the country under his command.

He turned abruptly and stalked into the interior of the dimly lit shrine which was made even darker by the closing of the doors.

The general was preceded to the "Rock of Remembrance" inside the shrine by his senior aide, Colonel L. A. Diller, and his naval aide, Captain H. J. Raye.

Tribute To Heroes

As Gen. MacArthur and his staff stood in silent tribute for 90 seconds before the rock, bearing the inscription, "greater love hath no man," Col. Diller placed a wreath of orange and white chrysanthemums at the base.

MORE NEEDED TO FILL NEW FIRST AID CLASSES

Registration for instruction in First Aid classes will continue through Saturday and Monday afternoon at Red Cross headquarters West Main street. Persons who have volunteered for civilian defense work are urged to register at once.

Without 10 hours of first aid instruction, a person cannot qualify, cannot participate in any defense activities.

About 60 have registered so far out of more than 400 who have volunteered in various capacities for civilian defense.

First aid work should be gotten out of the way immediately because in a very short time instruction in other types of defense work will begin.

SOLDIER LEARNS HIS POOR FARM WORTH FORTUNE

ROCKFORD, Ill., April 25—Corporal Roy H. Hoge, 38, had a 210-acre farm near Ridgeway, Ill., which just paid out a living when he was working it, before he entered the army and was assigned to nearby Camp Grant.

But after Hoge left it, the farm really began to pay. Someone struck oil near his place, and the corporal today had a standing offer of $1,000 an acre—$210,000—for his property.

Hoge said he will continue army life, but the new riches will come in handy to his wife, who started working at a job when he entered the army, but now will return to keeping house.

U. S. EAGLES AND GERMANS MEET; END FOR NAZIS

LONDON, April 25—Two members of the Royal Air Force's American Eagle squadron today were credited with shooting down a German Junkers 52 troop-carrying plane over the English Channel.

PORT COLUMBUS TAKEN OVER FOR NAVY PLANES

COLUMBUS, April 25—The city council approved legislation passed at a special session last night to lease Port Columbus, one of the nation's largest landing fields, to the Navy at an annual rental of one dollar a year with the provision that the lease can be renewed each year up to June 30, 1947. The lease of the airport becomes effective May 1.

2,200 STRIKERS ARE URGED TO RESUME WORK

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J., April 25—More than 2,200 strikers at Cornell-Dubilier Corporation, manufacturers of communications equipment for the armed forces, today were urged to return to work by union officials.

The War Labor Board in Washington reported that they were assured complete cooperation by A. F. of C. and C.I.O. international union officers who promised to have all the workers return to their posts by Monday.

The strike call was issued after a three-hour wage conference between company and employee representatives broke down. It was the second strike called at the plant since March, 1941.

WHITE BRIGADE ACTIVE DESPITE GERMAN MURDER

LONDON, April 25—Executions and arrests are increasing daily in Belgium, the Belgian government information service said today.

The German occupation authorities, it was said, are now shooting Belgian patriots at the rate of 20 to 25 daily.

Resistance to Nazi pressure was reported to be taking violent forms, with a "White Brigade" heating sabotage campaigns against the Germans.

The White Brigade was said to be arming and preparing to assist United Nations forces actively if and when they invade the continent.

WAGE INCREASES REQUESTED FOR GROUPS ON WPA

DETROIT, April 25—The welfare department of the UAW-CIO today sent a letter to President Roosevelt asking him to support a request for wage increases for WPA workers. The letter declared that many WPA workers were performing work necessary for the war effort and that the cost of living has increased.

ROSTOCK AGAIN SUBJECTED TO FIERCE ATTACK

Airmen Find Way Lighted By Fires Still Blazing From Friday's Bombing

HEINKEL CHIEF TARGET

Pacific Warbirds Lash Out Against Japanese-Held Base Of Lae

By International News Service
LONDON, April 25—Bringing the 24-hour total of bombs dropped to be the staggering figure of almost 1,000,000 pounds, hundreds of Royal air force planes again raided the vital German industrial city of Rostock early today, their way lit by fires still roaring as a result of the first battering assault yesterday morning.

More than 400 tons of high explosive bombs were dropped on the city where the huge Heinkel aircraft plant is located in the course of the two attacks, it was estimated.

Great Britain uses the long ton, which is 2,240 pounds as against the 2,000 pound American ton. Thus the total weight of bombs dropped came exactly to 896,000 pounds.

Raids Admitted

A German communique admitted the widespread nature of the raids. Insisting as usual that only non-military objectives were attacked, a communique said that "a number of dwelling houses, monuments and public welfare institutions were destroyed or damaged."

Today's attack was even greater than that of yesterday, and British newspapers say that the damage at Rostock exceeds that done at Lubeck, whose main manufacturing area was pulverized in what the British now term a "new era" in air bombardment.

Returning pilots said weather conditions were so favorable they were able to observe that the second attack on Rostock, vital Baltic commercial port, was carried out with "good results," especially against the Heinkel aircraft works which suffered heavy damage in the previous bombing.

No sooner had the British bombers which conducted the second successive damaging assault against Rostock's war production factories returned than other R. A. F. fliers struck out anew across the channel to pummel the Nazi-occupied coast of France.

Heavy Gunfire

Observers on the Folkestone shore of England heard heavy gunfire along the French channel coast and what they believed to be periodic anti-aircraft fire as British craft continued to carry the air war to the Nazis. The point of attack was reported in the vicinity of Cap Gris Nez.

Coastal towns of England during the night and early morning suffered bombings by Nazi planes, and although they resulted in a number of casualties and considerable residential property damage they were on a minor scale.

London evening newspapers were jubilant over the large successes being scored by the Royal Air Force in its devastating attacks against Reich industries, naval bases and airdromes.

MONEY RAISED FOR JAPS GOES TO CHINA FUND

NEW YORK, April 25—United China relief was enriched by a check of $9.50 today—a sum originally raised in 1923 by the citizens of Muskogee, Okla., for the relief of the Japanese earthquake victims of Tokyo and Yokohama.

The check, accompanied by a letter, was mailed by the Muskogee National bank. The letter said the sum represented an unclaimed residue and added that while it was illegal to disturb such an inactive account without approval of the bank examiner it felt there would be no objection to enlisting the fund to raise money for the Chinese people.

COUNTY STARTS REGISTRATION OF OLDER CITIZENS

Men In 45 To 65 Year Age
Group Signing For War
Service Against Axis

CONTINUES THREE DAYS

Occupational Questionnaires
Must Be Filled Out By
All Of New Group

Pickaway county began Saturday to muster its older men for possible service with Uncle Sam. Long before the registration opened at noon Saturday, men between the ages of 45 and 65 appeared at the draft board office in the court house seeking early sign-up, and when the doors of common pleas court room opened, many were waiting outside.

According to the program outlined by the draft board, men whose last names begin with the letters A through F, were to appear Saturday, unless it was inconvenient for them to do so, but draft officials expect by far the largest registration to take place on Monday.

Registration on Sunday will be conducted from 12 noon until 6 p. m. and on Monday from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. Draft officials predict that the registration will be somewhat larger than the one in February and are prepared to handle about 2,000 men during the three days.

Men between 45 and 65 must register at the court house, since there are no other registering stations in the county. Many of the forty deputy registrars who assisted with the third registration were on duty again Saturday to assist the board.

Unlike previous registrations, those men between 45 and 65 are not liable for military service under the selective service act of 1940. Later they will be required to fill out occupational questionnaires, the purpose of which will be to seek out those men whose occupations make them valuable to war industrial production.

It will be several weeks before any questionnaires are mailed to any of the new registrants, the draft board pointed out.

Those who qualify to register Saturday, Sunday or Monday are all male persons not previously registered, who had not attained their sixty-fifth birthday on or before April 27, 1942.

Local draft officials said that anyone finding it impossible to register at his home board may register at the most convenient registration place, but all registrants are urged to make every effort to register with their own board to avoid possible confusion.

LAURELVILLE

Members of the dinner bridge club enjoyed a six o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Strous on Tuesday evening.

Awards went to Mrs. Amy Grattidge, high, and Mrs. Mabel Bowers low for the ladies, and to Damon Pontious for the gent.

Others present besides the hosts were Dr. Grattidge, George Bowers, Florence Pontious, Gayle Archer, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cox.

The following officers have been selected by the local Girls' 4-H club: Gertrude Bigham, adviser; Marlene Archer, assistant leader; Jane Grattidge, president; Charlotte Dille, vice-president; Esther Mae Stump, secretary and news reporter; Joyce Ann Swepston, treasurer; Joanne Waltz, recreation leader.

The first meeting will be held a few weeks after school is out.

The W. C. T. U. met Wednesday at the home of Emma Armstrong, with the president, Mary Porter presiding.

The topic for the month was "Safeguarding our Youth". Those taking part in the program were Mrs. Lillie McClelland, Bertha Egan, Frances Worley, Ruth Bushnell, Violet Armstrong and Emma Armstrong. Refreshments were served at the close.

Plans were made to hold an institute May 24. A medal contest will be held in the evening.

The final P-T. A. meeting of the year was held at the Community hall on Monday evening.

Members of the program committee were Marcellus Young, Mrs. Amy Grattidge, Mrs. Helen Archer, Mrs. Cora Rose and Mrs. Emma Cox. Miss Weirich and Miss McClelland directed the plays that were presented.

The program was given by the Girl Scouts of the Laurelville-Adelphi community, and consisted of two one-act plays entitled "What Are You Going to Wear?" and "Don't Tell a Soul".

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hedges and children Lila, Miriam, Don and Martha Woolson of Columbus spent the week end with relatives and friends.

SAFEGUARD FOR SCHOOL PUPILS SETS NEW MARK

More pupils of Circleville schools now are protected from diphtheria and smallpox than at any time in recent years, Mrs. Mae M. Groome, city health nurse, reported Saturday, after she had completed a vaccination and immunization program in the lower grades.

The blanket program of vaccination and immunization has included all of the city's elementary schools. A total of 398 pupils were vaccinated for smallpox and 284 were immunized against diphtheria.

Program in the individual schools reached the following number of pupils: Walnut; immunizations, 85; vaccinations, 102; Corwin; immunizations, 103; vaccinations, 85; High street; immunizations, 48; vaccinations, 88; Franklin; immunizations, 48; vaccinations, 123.

A similar campaign is being waged in the county schools, where pupils are urged to ask their family physicians for vaccinations and immunizations. The program is under the direction of the county health office.

Both the city and county campaigns against smallpox and diphtheria are parts of a nationwide drive to protect children in war times against the two preventable diseases. The Ohio Department of Health has cooperated in the nationwide campaign by furnishing free toxoid to the local health departments for the immunization against diphtheria of all children over nine months of age. Vaccine for the smallpox vaccinations has been furnished by the local health departments.

In urging that Pickaway county participate in the campaign, Dr. R. H. Markwith, state director of health, pointed out that this is a real war time emergency and "we solicit the full cooperation of the personnel of your health department, and the practicing physicians of your community, in securing the immunization and vaccination of all the children from nine months to ten years of age in your community."

OFFICER GETS KICK IN FACE FROM FRESHMAN

Circleville's police department met an example of the fighting Irish Friday night. Result—one patrolman has a bruised face and one fighting Irishman is in the city jail.

Patrolmen Elmer Merriman and George Green arrested Patrick James O'Meara, 28, Belton Ball, Texas, late Friday night in a North Court street establishment, charging him with being drunk and disorderly.

As Patrolman Merriman attempted to pull O'Meara out of the police cruiser when they arrived at the police station, O'Meara began to resist arrest and kicked the patrolman in the face. When police finally succeeded in getting their captive into police headquarters, they charged the charges to "drunk and disorderly and resisting arrest."

O'Meara was in city jail Saturday waiting hearing before Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

ASHVILLE

The attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Community club at the Odd Fellows building and in the lodge room, third floor, yesterday evening, was at the thirty mark. The newly elected officers, Harold Bowers, president, and Edwin Irwin, secretary, were in charge. The preliminary work, reading of former meeting minutes and adoption through, several matters were under discussion. The first one approved and disposed of by appointing a committee to act with the village council, was the building of a permanent, outdoor oven at the park. Whether to, or not, hold a Fourth of July celebration this year, because of the war, as in the past many years, was much discussed and it was decided to make a start at it and the several committees necessary for a successful observance of the day, were named. Through the adoption of a motion by F. D. Richey, the chairmen of the several committees are to arrange the program to fit war conditions as they may exist on July 4.

You are again reminded of the band concert to be held at the school auditorium tomorrow, Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Free admission—silver offering.

The junk collectors, Mahaffey, Eversole, with their live youngsters, had a big day of it Saturday, doing more business than any other previous collection. Goods and amounts collected: Four tons paper; one ton of iron; 270 pounds of rags; 350 pounds of rubber. Received cash for sale of same, $67.50. This is to be applied upon the improvement of Community Center hall which is to be dedicated to the use of the public with dedication services at the hall, next Wednesday evening. More about this Monday. Keep listening in.

The growing, cannery pea crop, last acre seeded just the other day, is "coming along fine and growing nicely," the knowing and production ones, tell us. Some 600 acres have been sown for the local Crites plant.

There was another full program at the school this afternoon. The WPA orchestra again visited us and the Junior class presented their assembly program.

The second annual spring band concert will be given April 26, Sunday, at 3 p. m. There will be no admission but an offering will be taken.

Charles Higley, of Dayton, came home for a short while Thursday evening. Mrs. C. A. Higley also returned from Groveport where she has been staying with her mother, who has been seriously ill, but is now improving. Mrs. Higley returned to Groveport later in the evening.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Jackson Livestock club met Tuesday evening at the Jackson school building. The president asked each member of the club to say the 4H pledge. It was decided each member will pay five cents a month dues. Eleven members were present. The next meeting will be in the school building May 19. News reporter, Carl Bumgarner

WARM WEATHER WILL CONTINUE OVER SATURDAY

Circleville's warm weather will continue Saturday, according to Irvin Leist, local weather observer.

Barometer was falling slightly, but not enough to indicate unsettled weather, Leist said. High Friday was 81, matching the season's high set on April 16. The low reading Saturday morning was 44.

14 FARM BUREAU FOLK VISIT CLINTON COUNTY

Under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hodgson of Jackson township, a group of 14 Farm Bureau members of Councils No. 3 and No. 4 Thursday visited council members and Farm Bureau executives of Clinton county.

Accompanied by County Extension Agent Bluck and other Farm Bureau executives of that county, the group visited five Farm Bureau-owned elevators, a lumber yard, a filling station, a bulk oil plant and a Farm Bureau store. After lunch, the visitors spent the afternoon at five farms where the owners, together with County Agent Bluck, are carrying out an extensive sheep and swine production program. One of the farms was that of A. C. Henry, who topped all known records in swine production when his 35 litters reached market weighing 2,180 pounds per litter at six months and one week of age.

It was found that much has been done by these farmers to improve their breeding stock, their farm management and their disease control programs. Clinton county has 25 active Farm Councils, 22 of which have been organized by Arthur Hooverland, Columbus, Farm Bureau educational agent, who accompanied the group on its Thursday tour.

Clinton county council members urged the Pickaway county to further the organization of councils as the most effective way to help farmers to help themselves.

Grandpappy Jenkins says he understands Washington is so overcrowded that wise visitors hire detectives to find a room for them.

Washington Merry-Go- Round

Labor, the President gave Land a quiet dressing down for the muddled state of the vital shipping situation. For shipping is now the sourest spot in the war picture.

"I've decided not to turn over the merchant marine to the Navy, for the time being," the President said, in effect. I'm requisitioning all vessels and putting them in your hands. But I expect a lot of improvement. The present situation is far from satisfactory and it must be bettered at once."

Further, the President directed Land to turn over to Capt. Macauley the handling of all shipping labor problems.

This was an even sharper rebuke than the first spanking. Behind the scenes, Land and Macauley have been at loggerheads over labor issues. Although a former ship operator, Macauley has made an outstanding record on the Maritime Commission in eliminating labor difficulties. He did away with strikes, greatly improved training facilities to attract men to the merchant marine, and introduced many new safety measures for their protection at sea.

Despite this record, however, when Land was made Shipping Administrator plus chairman of the Maritime Commission, he appointed as his labor lieutenant Dan Ring, henchman of Joe Ryan. Ryan is AFL boss of the East Coast waterfronts under investigation by the FBI.

RING-ROUND-THE-ROSY

Ryan is vehemently opposed to the naming of the East Coast shipping czar, as was done on the Pacific Coast, where the situation has been tremendously improved thereby. Fearing his stranglehold on the Atlantic Coast waterfronts would be broken by an impartial government arbiter, Ryan has fought this tooth and nail. So Land's appointment of Ring as his labor assistant played patly into boss Ryan's meaty hands.

Land has followed the Ryan-Ring advice despite the fact that weeks ago the President told him to select a competent man to clean up the very smelly East Coast shipping situation.

Macauley has long urged that this be done. Whether it will, now that Land has been directed to shelve Ring, remains to be seen. In fact, it remains to be seen just what Land does about the orders regarding Ring.

If nothing is done, an explosion in the Maritime Commission is likely. Besides being an old personal friend of the President, Macauley does not shove around easily.

Note: Administration friends of Joe Kennedy, ex-Ambassador to Great Britain, are high-pressuring behind the scenes to have him named East Coast shipping czar. Big obstacle in Kennedy's path is his hostility to Britain and Russia. War Transportation Administrator Joe Eastman offered Kennedy a job to untie certain railroad knots, but Kennedy turned it down.

"IVORY HUNTER" ROBERTS

The Air Corps has nicknamed one of its officers "Ivory Hunter." He is Lt. Col. William A. Roberts, dynamic young commander of the officers' school of the Air Corps' Technical Training Command at Miami.

Reason they call Roberts "Ivory Hunter" is that he has been diligently searching for professors who are both hard-boiled and learned to help man a unique school—to train administrative officers for the Air Corps.

Though most people don't realize it, only a small number of men in the Air Corps actually fly. The rest are mechanics, technicians, experts on transportation, buying, warehousing, etc. The care and movement of the machines on the ground are almost as important as flying the machines in the air.

So with the Air Corps expanding rapidly, Col. Roberts has been placed in command of a new school in the Vanderbilt Hotel at Miami Beach to train administrative officers. A tough "brain-truster" himself, he is looking for equally tough brain monitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crites were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Crites of Circleville, Sunday.

COUNTY STARTS REGISTRATION OF OLDER CITIZENS

Men In 45 To 65 Year Age
Group Signing For War
Service Against Axis

CONTINUES THREE DAYS

Occupational Questionnaires
Must Be Filled Out By
All Of New Group

Pickaway county began Saturday to muster its older men for possible service with Uncle Sam. Long before the registration opened at noon Saturday, men between the ages of 45 and 65 appeared at the draft board office in the court house seeking early sign-up, and when the doors of common pleas court room opened, many were waiting outside.

According to the program outlined by the draft board, men whose last names begin with the letters A through F, were to appear Saturday, unless it was inconvenient for them to do so, but draft officials expect by far the largest registration to take place on Monday.

Registration on Sunday will be conducted from 12 noon until 6 p. m. and on Monday from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. Draft officials predict that the registration will be somewhat larger than the one in February and are prepared to handle about 2,000 men during the three days.

Men between 45 and 65 must register at the court house, since there are no other registering stations in the county. Many of the forty deputy registrars who assisted with the third registration were on duty again Saturday to assist the board.

Unlike previous registrations, those men between 45 and 65 are not liable for military service under the selective service act of 1940. Later they will be required to fill out occupational questionnaires, the purpose of which will be to seek out those men whose occupations make them valuable to war industrial production.

It will be several weeks before any questionnaires are mailed to any of the new registrants, the draft board pointed out.

Those who qualify to register Saturday, Sunday or Monday are all male persons not previously registered, who had not attained their sixtieth birthday on or before April 27, 1942.

Local draft officials said that anyone finding it impossible to register at his home board may register at the most convenient registration place, but all registrants are urged to make every effort to register with their own board to avoid possible confusion.

LAURELVILLE

Members of the dinner bridge club enjoyed a six o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Strous on Tuesday evening.

Circleville's warm weather will continue Saturday, according to Irvin Leist, local weather observer.

Barometer was falling slightly, but not enough to indicate unsettled weather, Leist said. High Friday was 81, matching the season's high set on April 16. The low reading Saturday morning was 44.

14 FARM BUREAU FOLK VISIT CLINTON COUNTY

Under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hodgson of Jackson township, a group of 14 Farm Bureau members of Councils No. 3 and No. 4 Thursday visited council members and Farm Bureau executives of Clinton county.

Accompanied by County Extension Agent Bluck and other Farm Bureau executives of that county, the group visited five Farm Bureau-owned elevators, a lumber yard, a filling station, a bulk oil plant and a Farm Bureau store. After lunch, the visitors spent the afternoon at five farms where the owners, together with County Agent Bluck, are carrying out an extensive sheep and swine production program. One of the farms was that of A. C. Henry, who topped all known records in swine production when his 35 litters reached market weighing 2,180 pounds per litter at six months and one week of age.

It was found that much has been done by these farmers to improve their breeding stock, their farm management and their disease control programs.

Clinton county has 25 active Farm Councils, 22 of which have been organized by Arthur Hoverland, Columbus, Farm Bureau educational agent, who accompanied the group on its Thursday tour.

Clinton county council members urged the Pickaway county to further the organization of councils as the most effective way to help farmers to help themselves.

Grandpappy Jenkins says he understands Washington is so overcrowded that wise visitors hire detectives to find a room for them.

Washington Merry-Go- Round

Labor, the President gave Land a quiet dressing down for the muddled state of the vital shipping situation. For shipping is now the sourest spot in the war picture.

"I've decided not to turn over the merchant marine to the Navy, for the time being," the President said, in effect. "I'm requisitioning all vessels and putting them in your hands. But I expect a lot of improvement. The present situation is far from satisfactory and it must be bettered at once."

Further, the President directed Land to turn over to Capt. Macauley the handling of all shipping labor problems.

This was an even sharper rebuke than the first spanking. Behind the scenes, Land and Macauley have been at loggerheads over labor issues. Although a former ship operator, Macauley has made an outstanding record on the Maritime Commission in eliminating labor difficulties. He did away with strikes, greatly improved training facilities to attract men to the merchant marine, and introduced many new safety measures for their protection at sea.

Despite this record, however, when Land was made Shipping Administrator plus chairman of the Maritime Commission, he appointed as his labor lieutenant Dan Ring, henchman of Joe Ryan, Ryan is AFL boss of the East Coast waterfronts under investigation by the FBI.

RING-ROUND-THE-ROSY

Ryan is vehemently opposed to the naming of the East Coast shipping czar, as was done on the Pacific Coast, where the situation has been tremendously improved thereby. Fearing his stranglehold on the Atlantic Coast waterfronts would be broken by an impartial government arbiter, Ryan has fought this tooth and nail. So Land's appointment of Ring as his labor assistant played patly into boss Ryan's meaty hands.

Land has followed the Ryan-Ring advice despite the fact that weeks ago the President told him to select a competent man to clean up the very smelly East Coast shipping situation.

Macauley has long urged that this be done. Whether it will, now that Land has been directed to shelve Ring, remains to be seen. In fact, it remains to be seen just what Land does about the orders regarding Ring.

If nothing is done, an explosion in the Maritime Commission is likely. Besides being an old personal friend of the President, Macauley does not shove around easily.

Note: Administration friends of Joe Kennedy, ex-Ambassador to Great Britain, are high-pressuring behind the scenes to have him named East Coast shipping czar. Big obstacle in Kennedy's path is his hostility to Britain and Russia. War Transportation Administrator Joe Eastman offered Kennedy a job to untie certain railroad knots, but Kennedy turned it down.

"IVORY HUNTER" ROBERTS

The Air Corps has nicknamed one of its officers "Ivory Hunter." He is Lt. Col. William A. Roberts, dynamic young commander of the officers' school of the Air Corps' Technical Training Command at Miami.

Reason they call Roberts "Ivory Hunter" is that he has been diligently searching for professors who are both hard-boiled and learned to help man a unique school—to train administrative officers for the Air Corps.

Though most people don't realize it, only a small number of men in the Air Corps actually fly. The rest are mechanics, technicians, experts on transportation, buying, warehousing, etc. The care and movement of the machines on the ground are almost as important as flying the machines in the air.

So with the Air Corps expanding rapidly, Col. Roberts has been placed in command of a new school in the Vanderbilt Hotel at Miami Beach to train administrative officers. A tough "brain-truster" himself, he is looking for equally tough brain monitors.

Trinity Lutheran Choir Sings At Huge Capital University Festival

28 Voices Included In Presentation To Be Held Sunday

Senior Choir of Trinity Lutheran church will sing Sunday at the sixth annual choir festival of Capital University, an event considered by many religious music lovers, as one of the outstanding achievements of the year.

The festival, held annually at the university, will bring together outstanding church choirs of the Columbus area which are directed by former members of its chapel choir.

Carl C. Leist, director of the Trinity choir, and Mrs. Leist both are charter members of Capital University's chapel choir, organized in 1927.

Trinity choir, including 28 voices, will sing during the evening service. Its selection will be "America, Glorious Land" by Clark. Each choir participating in the festival must sing without music or accompaniment.

The present University chapel choir, including 60 voices, also will sing during the evening service. As an added attraction, several selections will be presented by a mass choir made up of all participating choirs. The mass choir will be directed by Professor Ellis Snyder, vocal music director at the university and a former director of the Trinity choir in Circleville.

KELSEY WILL REPRESENT CHURCH AT ITS ASSEMBLY

The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor of First Presbyterian church, has been elected a commissioner to the 154th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, United States of America. The assembly will be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, May 21 to 28.

The Rev. Mr. Kelsey is one of three ministers and three elders elected by the Presbytery as delegates to the convention.

Other pastors from the Columbus Presbytery who will attend the assembly are the Rev. Arthur C. Walter, pastor of the Boulevard Presbyterian church, Columbus, and the Rev. William H. Hanum, retired foreign missionary of the Presbytery.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Luke 13:22-35.

By Alfred J. Buescher

The Lord went on His way through the cities and villages, teaching and journeying on toward Jerusalem.

When one asked Jesus, "are there few who are saved?" He told them to "Strive to enter in at the strait gate."

For many shall stand at the door and knock to whom the Lord will say, "I know you not whence ye are."

There shall be weeping when the unsaved are thrust out of the Kingdom. (GOLDEN TEXT—Luke 14:27)

The Golden Text

Christ weeps over Jerusalem.

"Whoever doth not bear his own cross, and come after Me, cannot be My disciple."—Luke 14:27.

METHODIST STUDENT DAY IS SCHEDULED JUNE 14

The 71st annual Methodist student day will be observed by Methodist churches in all parts of the country June 14, Dr. Harry Wright McPherson, director of the Student Loan Fund of the Methodist Board of Education, has announced.

Originally known as Children's or College Day, contributions will be received on that day for the Student Loan Fund, providing loans for those students who otherwise might not be able to secure a college education.

In the 70 years since its inception, the Student Loan Fund has provided more than $9,500,000 to over 55,000 students. Approximately 6,000 loans aggregating $325,000 are now loaned annually to students matriculating in 181 Methodist and accredited non-Methodist schools of learning from coast to coast.

In announcing the date, Dr. McPherson asked for fullest cooperation of the 8,000,000 Methodists in the nation to make the 1942 contribution to the fund one of the largest in its history.

"Never before has education with the Christian emphasis been more needed," he said. "A war-torn secular world menaces all that Christian idealism and democracy mean. We must keep the high standards that have always characterized our institutions of learning and make it possible for our young people to continue their education in those schools."

Church Briefs

Girl Reserves will attend the morning service at St. Philip's church Sunday.

"The Heroism of Patience" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor, in the worship service at First Presbyterian church Sunday morning. The choir will sing the anthem "The Lord of Love My Shepherd" by Shelley. Miss Abbe Clarke will play at the organ "In Springtime" by Kinder, a Negro spiritual arranged by Lemare, and the grand march from "Leonore Symphony" by Raff. Deacons of the church will meet Sunday morning following the worship service.

The Rev. Neil Peterson, pastor of First Methodist church, will speak on "They Know Not What They Do" at the church worship service Sunday morning. Anthem for the service will be "But the Lord Is Mindful of His Own," by Mendelssohn.

George D. McDowell, elder in First Presbyterian church, has been appointed by the Columbus Presbytery as the official delegate to the meeting of the Synod of Ohio, to be held in Wooster, June 22 to 25.

There were "V for Victory" markings on a muskrat trapped near Drawbridge, Maryland, recently reported by a United States fur expert. The animal was a mixture of black and brown, with white bars blazed on each side of the head, extending forward from the ears through the eyes and converging at the tip of the nose to form a distinct "V."

Farming in Southern Ohio

BY THOMAS E. BEERY

Litter for Baby Chicks

Knowing what is the best litter to use for baby chicks is very important this year, in the changing market for poultry supplies. One man, who has been very successful with poultry, says that he never uses anything but fine, clean, gravel on the floor of the brooder house, spreading it uniformly, and about three inches thick; getting it well dried before the baby chicks are put on it, and also covering it with newspapers for about a week, until the chicks learn to eat. "If you don't cover the gravel for awhile the little chicks may eat more gravel and fine sand than they should, for their maximum development," he said.

Peat Moss

It is available this year and is very satisfactory. You can buy it at a very reasonable cost, from your baby chick hatchery. One bale is enough for brooding 300 baby chicks. Add half of the bale and cover with newspapers for about a week, and at the end of the fourth week, add the rest of the bale. That's all you will need, until you sell the cockerels, when you may need to add some more.

This peat moss is dug out of the ground in the lake shore states in the north-western part of our great nation; where it is found in large quantities. "That's an interesting deposit," I said to the hatchery man who sold us our peat moss. "I suppose in about 4000 years that would be coal, if conditions were right for its formation," I added. He agreed with me and then hastened to say that we would both be gone, when the great peat deposits were transformed into coal.

Peat moss gets very fine, as the chicks scratch it around, and it absorbs all of the moisture from the droppings. It makes unexpelled fertilizer, when you clean the brooder house for the next hatch, for the moss adds to the organic matter of the soil, and the chicks manure is very high in readily available nitrogen. If you want to force some early vegetables, put some of this material around them and watch them grow; only don't overdo it or you will kill them.

Straw for Litter

I know of some very successful poultrymen who use straw for litter on the brooder house floor, which they cover with newspapers for a week or ten days, until the chicks learn to eat from the self feeders. "Be sure and get straw free from chaff, and you will get along all right with it" one of the users said.

Wood Burning Brooder Stoves

A friend of mine, who has been very successful with chickens for many years, says that he has used many types of stoves, but he prefers the "wood burners" as he described them, because they are so economical to operate, and they are very satisfactory. I've used about all of the different kinds of stoves on the market, and I like the wood burners the best, because they are so inexpensive to operate and you get enough heat to keep the litter dry," he continued.

If you are interested in these stoves or would like to learn more about them, write me and enclose a post card and I'll have my secretary send you the name and address of the manufacturer. This is well worth investigating. I might add that I am not selling stoves or any kind of agricultural equipment, but I am trying to write this column, so it will be of help to our readers, who are making their living from the soil. (I almost wrote "The hard way," and that is true, but it is a glorious way, if you have a fondness for domestic animals and plants, and you like to live close to the soil, and in "The Great Out of Doors"

as someone has described the open country.)

Cost of Producing Pork

We would like to give our readers some cost production records on pork. "As she is raised in southern Ohio" as one man expressed it. Are you keeping records on the hogs you are feeding on your farm? If so, will you write us and give our readers the benefit of your experience? This will be of help to them and it will help us in editing our column. Be sure to give us your methods too, and tell us how you keep your hogs healthy.

I might add that we are using Chinese philosophy now; we are giving our friends an opportunity to be of help to us.

A Good Yellow Rose

Many of our readers have told us that they are having trouble to find a good yellow rose that is hardy enough to live through the winter in the corn belt. We are going to try the Soeur Therese (Sister Theresa), grown by the Conrad-Pyle Co., West Grove 35, Pennsylvania. Try this rose in a small way, at least. It may be just the rose you have been trying to find. Send direct to the company for their attractive catalog.

A Rose Tree

"I'm going to have me a rose tree, if I have to borrow the money to buy it," a friend of ours recently said, after returning from a trip to southern California, where she saw many rose trees growing. "Most of the standard varieties of roses can now be bought, grafted on a low growing shrub, and they are the prettiest things I have ever seen anywhere," she pointed out, and she has traveled in most of the civilized countries of the world.

Consult your nurseryman about rose trees. If you are a lover of flowers, this is well worth investigating.

Advertising

I got a lesson in advertising this morning, while I was milking and feeding the fattening hogs and "stockers." A beautiful red headed woodpecker was drumming persistently on a dead limb for his mate. He'd often stop to see if she had come to see him, and then he'd fly around a little and expose himself to the trade, as we'd express it in the business world. Wouldn't you call that good advertising?

This bird already has some very good prospects and I believe he'll have his home established before night.

Note his method. He advertised persistently and then he looked around for customers — exposed himself to them.

The Naval academy at Annapolis, Md., has about 40 cooks to feed its more than 3,000 midshipmen.

The state bird of Iowa is the goldfinch, and of Kansas, the meadowlark.

Trinity Lutheran Choir Sings At Huge Capital University Festival

28 Voices Included In Presentation To Be Held Sunday

Senior Choir of Trinity Lutheran church will sing Sunday at the sixth annual choir festival of Capital University, an event considered by many religious music lovers, as one of the outstanding achievements of the year.

The festival, held annually at the university, will bring together outstanding church choirs of the Columbus area which are directed by former members of its chapel choir.

Carl C. Leist, director of the Trinity choir, and Mrs. Leist both are charter members of Capital University's chapel choir, organized in 1927.

Trinity choir, including 28 voices, will sing during the evening service. Its selection will be "America, Glorious Land" by Clark. Each choir participating in the festival must sing without music or accompaniment.

The present University chapel choir, including 60 voices, also will sing during the evening service. As an added attraction, several selections will be presented by a mass choir made up of all participating choirs. The mass choir will be directed by Professor Ellis Snyder, vocal music director at the university and a former director of the Trinity choir in Circleville.

KELSEY WILL REPRESENT CHURCH AT ITS ASSEMBLY

The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor of First Presbyterian church, has been elected a commissioner to the 154th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, United States of America. The assembly will be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, May 21 to 28.

The Rev. Mr. Kelsey is one of three ministers and three elders elected by the Presbytery as delegates to the convention.

Other pastors from the Columbus Presbytery who will attend the assembly are the Rev. Arthur C. Walter, pastor of the Boulevard Presbyterian church, Columbus, and the Rev. William H. Hannum, retired foreign missionary of the Presbytery.

METHODIST STUDENT DAY IS SCHEDULED JUNE 14

The 71st annual Methodist student day will be observed by Methodist churches in all parts of the country June 14, Dr. Harry Wright McPherson, director of the Student Loan Fund of the Methodist Board of Education, has announced.

Originally known as Children's or College Day, contributions will be received on that day for the Student Loan Fund, providing loans for those students who otherwise might not be able to secure a college education.

In the 70 years since its inception, the Student Loan Fund has provided more than $9,500,000 to over 55,000 students. Approximately 6,000 loans aggregating $325,000 are now loaned annually to students matriculating in 181 Methodist and accredited non-Methodist schools of learning from coast to coast.

BY THOMAS E. BEERY

Litter for Baby Chicks

Knowing what is the best litter to use for baby chicks is very important this year, in the changing market for poultry supplies. One man, who has been very successful with poultry, says that he never uses anything but fine, clean, gravel on the floor of the brooder house, spreading it uniformly, and about three inches thick; getting it well dried before the baby chicks are put on it, and also covering it with newspapers for about a week, until the chicks learn to eat. "If you don't cover the gravel for awhile the little chicks may eat more gravel and fine sand than they should, for their maximum development," he said.

Peat Moss

It is available this year and is very satisfactory. You can buy it at a very reasonable cost, from your baby chick hatchery. One bale is enough for brooding 300 baby chicks. Add half of the bale and cover with newspapers for about a week, and at the end of the fourth week, add the rest of the bale. That's all you will need, until you sell the cockerels, when you may need to add some more.

This peat moss is dug out of the ground in the lake shore states in the north-western part of our great nation; where it is found in large quantities. "That's an interesting deposit," I said to the hatchery man who sold us our peat moss. "I suppose in about 4000 years that would be coal, if conditions were right for its formation," I added. He agreed with me and then hastened to say that we would both be gone, when the great peat deposits were transformed into coal.

Peat moss gets very fine, as the chicks scratch it around, and it absorbs all of the moisture from the droppings. It makes unexpended fertilizer, when you clean the brooder house for the next hatch, for the moss adds to the organic matter of the soil, and the chicks manure is very high in readily available nitrogen. If you want to force some early vegetables, put some of this material around them and watch them grow; only don't overdo it or you will kill them.

Straw for Litter

I know of some very successful poultrymen who use straw for litter on the brooder house floor, which they cover with newspapers for a week or ten days, until the chicks learn to eat from the self feeders. "Be sure and get straw free from chaff, and you will get along all right with it" one of the users said.

Wood Burning Brooder Stoves
A friend of mine, who has been very successful with chickens for many years, says that he has used many types of stoves, but he prefers the "wood burners" as he described them, because they are so economical to operate, and they are very satisfactory. I've used about all of the different kinds of stoves on the market, and I like the wood burners the best, because they are so inexpensive to operate and you get enough heat to keep the litter dry," he continued.

If you are interested in these stoves or would like to learn more about them, write me and enclose a post card and I'll have my secretary send you the name and address of the manufacturer. This is well worth investigating. I might add that I am not selling stoves or any kind of agricultural equipment, but I am trying to write this column, so it will be of help to our readers, who are making their living from the soil. (I almost wrote "The hard way," and that is true, but it is a glorious way, if you have a fondness for domestic animals and plants, and you like to live close to the soil, and in "The Great Out of Doors"

as someone has described the open country.)

Cost of Producing Pork

We would like to give our readers some cost production records on pork. "As she is raised in southern Ohio" as one man expressed it. Are you keeping records on the hogs you are feeding on your farm? If so, will you write us and give our readers the benefit of your experience? This will be of help to them and it will help us in editing our column. Be sure to give us your methods too, and tell us how you keep your hogs healthy.

I might add that we are using Chinese philosophy now; we are giving our friends an opportunity to be of help to us.

A Good Yellow Rose

Many of our readers have told us that they are having trouble to find a good yellow rose that is hardy enough to live through the winter in the corn belt. We are having that trouble, too, and we are going to try the Soeur Therese (Sister Theresa), grown by the Conrad-Pyle Co., West Grove 38, Pennsylvania. Try this rose, in a small way, at least. It may be just the rose you have been trying to find. Send direct to the company for their attractive catalog.

A Rose Tree

"I'm going to have me a rose tree, if I have to borrow the money to buy it," a friend of ours recently said, after returning from a trip to southern California, where she saw many rose trees growing. "Most of the standard varieties of roses can now be bought, grafted on a low growing shrub, and they are the prettiest things I have ever seen anywhere," she pointed out, and she has traveled in most of the civilized countries of the world.

Consult your nurseryman about rose trees. If you are a lover of flowers, this is well worth investigating.

Advertising

I got a lesson in advertising this morning, while I was milking and feeding the fattening hogs and "stockers". A beautiful red headed woodpecker was drumming persistently on a dead limb for his mate. He'd often stop to see if he had come to see him, and then he'd fly around a little and expose himself to the trade, as we'd express it in the business world.

Wouldn't you call that good advertising?

This bird already has some very good prospects and I believe he'll have his home established before night.

Note his method. He advertised persistently and then he looked around for customers — exposed himself to them.

The Naval academy at Annapolis, Mr., has about 4000 cooks to feed its more than 3,000 midshipmen.

People in the other states are naturally on edge now, as to when the crack-down will strike them. There is a basic difference, however. It is explained that the drastic limitation in the eastern tier of states is not due to a fuel famine but to the lack of transportation. The Middle West, where most of the gasoline is produced, has plenty of it, and the Far West, too, is better off than the East. There may be an effort, though, to ration gasoline everywhere, uniformly or nearly so, in order to make the burden fall equally on all.

If this is done, there will be soon an international problem, too. How will Americans get to Canada this summer? Canada itself offers no obstacle, and will sell them reasonable amounts of travel gas when they get there.

WASHINGTON — Following his trip to England, Harry Hopkins is giving close friends a very optimistic picture about the war situation.

He is convinced that Hitler is really alarmed at the tough resistance of the Russians, the growing war strength of the United States, and the fear of an invasion on the European continent.

One of Hitler's greatest weaknesses, Hopkins believes, is manpower. German industry has done a great job hitherto. But now with an increasing drain on both industry and the German army, the tremendous losses at the Russian front are having a definite effect.

To his close friends, Harry Hopkins is known as one of the most optimistic men in the Administration. But even discounting this natural optimism, other war chiefs in a position to know seem to have a fairly bright look in their eyes recently.

MUSSOLINI'S DOTAGE

Inside word brought back from Italy by those in the know gives a desolate picture of Benito Mussolini. He has been pretty well isolated from the war command and from direction of the government, both of which are dictated, directly or indirectly, by Nazis.

Mussolini has gone in for reminiscing on his younger days when he was a militant young socialist, part of the time exiled in Switzerland.

He has even sent for his old socialist friends, including some previously exiled to France. And they have sat around talking about the good old days when they were young.

Most significant is the fact that Mussolini lets his mind wander back especially to the days when he had no money, no pomp, no saluting legions.

Maybe this is insanity. Maybe it is just getting back to sanity after twenty long years of delusions of grandeur.

The executive order requisitioning all U. S. merchant ships was preceded by a discussion in the President's private office which was no treat to Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, despite the fact that the order greatly enlarged his authority as War Shipping Administrator.

Binocular Vision May Cause Various Troubles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF MY readers has been interested in the statement she saw in the newspapers that a prominent lecturer had been cured of aniseikonia and wanted me to explain something of the nature of the disease and the way it is treated.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Aniseikonia is a very rare and peculiar disease of the eyes in which the patient apparently loses his ability to maintain normal binocular vision. We have very little knowledge of how we manage to achieve binocular vision.

Conditions in Infancy

It is probable that a baby looking at a certain object sees two objects and sees them upside down. Somehow or other in the course of the first six months of life we are able to train our eyes so that we reverse the image so that it is right side up. We fuse the two images so that we see only one and we also see perspective. In other words, we see the object in spatial relation to depth.

When these functions get disturbed they are often difficult, but sometimes easy to correct. For instance, the external muscles may become paralyzed which would throw the eyes off-balance and cause double vision. This can be corrected by glasses, but the trouble in aniseikonia is that the individual sees two images of unequal size. For instance, looking at a chair, he not only sees two chairs, but one of them is larger than the other.

This obviously cannot be corrected with any simple form of glasses and oculists have been studying it for 15 or 20 years without making a great deal of progress until recently. The credit for the successful correction of aniseikonia belongs to Dr. Adelbert Ames, Jr., at the Dartmouth Eye Institute in Hanover, New Hampshire.

The individual with aniseikonia is subject to a large number of other troubles with his eyes. He is likely to be sensitive to light, to have ear and train sickness, pain in his eyes, and naturally he has excessive nervousness and is either unable to read at all or unable to read over long periods.

A number of physicians have felt that a large part of this condition is due to neurosthenia and can be corrected by psychology. They have not, however, had a great deal of success in treating cases in this way.

It is unnecessary and it would be confusing to attempt to explain the methods which Dr.

Ames and his associates and a few other clinics in the United States have used. Suffice it to say that he uses lenses of considerable complexity: some of them fit over other lenses and some of them are lenses which are known as double lenses—two lenses separated by an air space. The most successful lens used today is the so-called laminated bitoric bifocal lens.

Advances Made

It is not to be expected that the details of these treatments will be understood by the average reader of this article. My only purpose in writing it is to tell those who have been afflicted for some time and who may have been discouraged that at the present time advances have been made in the diagnostic classification of the disease and that there is treatment by lenses which will render them able to have normal or nearly normal vision.

The fact that the lenses are a good deal of trouble and require considerable care and are quite expensive is of no consequence to the patient with aniseikonia because the disability is such as practically to disable him from performing any of the functions of life.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. L.:—"When is the best time to give cod liver oil, before or after meals?"

Answer: There is a general rule that any medicine is absorbed better on an empty stomach before meals than after and this applies to this question.

A. F. D.:—"In tuberculosis does calcium calify tissue? Would a constant intake of calcium help to cause hardening of the arteries?"

Answer: The body gets calcium in such large quantities under ordinary circumstances that these questions have no meaning. Calcification of inflamed areas is a good thing for the tuberculosis patient and calcification of the arteries does little, if any, harm, so it doesn't make a great deal of difference.

A. R.:—"Is it true that bad teeth, that is, teeth with jagged edges can cause cancerous growths on cheek, lip or tongue?"

Answer: Yes. This is one of the principle dangers of teeth of that kind.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. ### SYNOPSIS

Three young airline hostesses, TIBBY LANE, sweet and natural; STEENA WINTERS, beautiful and sophisticated, and MARG BAKER, plain, sturdy and direct, share an apartment together in New York, where they are based. A friend of Tibby's, TOMMY DARY, is spending his first year out of medical school at a clinic in Brooklyn.

YESTERDAY: When Tibby is called for an unscheduled flight, she discovers that Steena has borrowed her only uniform.

CHAPTER SIX

TIBBY DID not know, on her way to the field, what explanation for missing her flight she would give. She did not think, as she had told Marg, that it would help to lay the blame on Steena. No one respected a tattletale. Steena, as well as Tibby, might lose her job, although from what Marg had said about their roommate's having gotten in so "smoothly" with Mr. Courtright that was not so likely.

Tibby wished she could make her explanations to someone besides Wayne Courtright. She did not know Mr. Courtright, but she had heard enough about him. Any one employed by the airline was bound to have heard about him. Not just because he was one of "the heads," but he was a sort of figure-head in every way.

It seemed that his position was only a sort of by-line; he had so much money he need not have worked at anything. He was a flyer, one of the old-timers who had taken all the risks and had all the thrills. He was a bachelor, from choice, not necessity, as he had to carry a club to keep the women away, so the saying went. He was hard as steel, ruthless when it came to getting his own way, impenetrable. So the rumors went.

It was small wonder that Tibby's knees felt like liquid and she had an emptiness in her middle when she was admitted to his private office. She wondered if she would be able to find her voice in order to make any kind of explanation.

"Well, what can I do for you?" Wayne Courtright glanced up with unconcealed impatience from the papers on his wide mahogany desk, glanced as indifferently away. His looks conformed with the rumors. Lean, hard and keen. It was easier to picture him behind the stick of a plane, the wheel of a yacht, on horseback, sighting along a rifle barrel, than behind a desk.

Tibby said, "I came to try to explain why I missed my flight. It won't take but a minute of your time." She had found her voice, after all, and with it a little of her courage. Surely Mr. Courtright could spare a minute or so. He could not be that busy.

"Well . . ." he did not glance up again. He stacked a sheath of papers, pushed them aside, reached for another pile.

He meant for her to get on with her explanation. He did not mean to help her the least bit. Tibby thought the head of organization should be more human; it would not have hurt any, not only the people he had to handle, but himself. She decided the rumors were mild.

"I didn't expect a call until tomorrow," she began. "You're supposed to hold yourself in readiness for a call at any time." Mr. Courtright did not let her get far. He rattled the papers with more unconcealed impatience.

"I know," Tibby said quietly. She saw it was not going to be any use, even if she had a reasonable explanation, which she did not. For since she could not give it all, without tattling, there was not much to explain. "I sent my uniform to the cleaners. It did not get back in time." She gave him the bare facts. He could take them or leave them.

"You should not leave the element of time up to a cleaning establishment." Mr. Courtright's tone was as brusque and impersonal as his words. "The company allows sufficient time in which to attend to all such details. Were you late for the proposed flight, or did you miss it entirely?" He glanced up at Tibby again from beneath thick, dark brows. His eyes—they were a sort of gray color, like steel again—seemed to see clear through her.

She said, "I missed it entirely." Nothing more.

"We just dismissed one of our best pilots for that same offense," he informed her. Now he pushed the papers aside, pushed back his chair as well, gave her his undivided attention.

Tibby said, "I do not think I deserve to be dismissed. This is my first offense." She had heard the story about the pilot; he had been constantly late; it had not been the first flight he had missed. "It was not intentional. I assure you it will never happen again."

She had all her courage back, to speak up like that. But if she were to be fired anyway, what difference did it make? Besides, Tibby believed in fair play. It was not fair that she should lose her position, even when all the facts were not included.

"You are not in a position to decide what you deserve." His eyes bored through her. "The company cannot put up with such carelessness, unintentional or otherwise. It may seem trivial to you—to miss a flight. But it is proof of further deficiencies in character. In flying, excuses are not acceptable. There should be no need for them."

Tibby knew what he meant; flying was too responsible and dangerous for anyone connected in any way with it to make mistakes. It applied to the lowliest grease-monkey, the line crew, the personnel in the offices, radio men, meteorologists, as well as the pilots and hostesses. All are entrusted with the safety and lives of the passengers.

"I am not offering excuses." Her dark eyes did not seek to avoid his look, though the high color flooded her face. "I am only asking for a chance to prove that it will not happen again. I realize it is not trivial—certainly not to me. I love my work. It means everything to me. That's why I came to you immediately—hoping you would try to be understanding, at least—rather than wait to be dismissed." Now she flung back her head with a proud little movement. "Thank you very much, just the same, Mr. Courtright. I shan't take up any more of your time."

She would have turned to walk from his office. It was the end of everything. She might as well face it. Besides, she had to get away. She could not have endured another moment under that cold, severe scrutiny. It made her very soul shiver up.

"Not so fast." His voice brought her to a stop. He had gotten to his feet, come from behind his enormous desk. He was as tall as he was lean. He wore his clothes with a casual elegance. His gray eyes did not seem quite so much like steel. He said, "I did not say I wouldn't give you another chance. You take entirely too much on yourself, Miss . . ."

"Lane," Tibby supplied. But now her knees were water again, her courage melting. This retrieve had come so suddenly; the relief and hope were too heavy.

Her face must have betrayed this. Wayne Courtright offered her a chair, practically putting her into it. "My time is not so valuable," he said, "that I cannot spare another second or so." He sat down, though not behind the desk. Somehow he did not appear so severe, sitting as he was now, one long, lean leg swung carelessly over the other, hand tilted back. There was even a trace of dry humor around his handsome mouth. For he was handsome, in his own way, as a thoroughbred horse is beautiful, a gleaming ship in trim and arrogant.

"I have a hunch," he commented, as his eyes searched her face, still flushed, but becomingly so, her direct soft eyes that could never be anything but honest, "that there is more to this than you have told me, but if you do not care to tell, that is up to you. So you love flying . . ." His voice lost its severity, personality; it actually did hold a human quality. "It means more to you than anything else. If you mean that, you are the sort of person we want to keep—not to lose. And I think you do mean it . . ."

"Oh, yes, I do." That shining look came back into Tibby's eyes, lighting her face, making it lovely, so lovely that Wayne Courtright's keen eyes did not miss it, for he recognized true beauty when he encountered it, having been a connoisseur of so much that was only surface or that would fade. "It's not you—kind—to give me another chance." She was sorry she had misjudged him. It was kind and good, human. She realized he had to be severe. It was fine of him not to press her to tell what she did not wish to, since he had surmised there was more that she withheld. "I promise," she added shyly, "that you shan't be sorry." "I'm confident I shan't be," he said, his eyes smiling deeply into hers.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour By Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a glorious morning of sunshine and soft breeze with birds in happy song, flowers in bloom, the world happy and contented with the passing of winter. Not even the war news could spoil such a day. Sat before an open window to scan the morning prints and enjoy first coffee of the day, always like the first cigaret, the very best.

Stopped at the post and then headed toward the plant. Wondered as I passed the courthouse just how long Forest Short owned that Pike county farm that has just been located for him by the government. Several years, I know, for I heard him trying to sell it sight-unseen, about three years ago. Probably never would have found it had the government not decided that it needs the land for some project. Joe Adkins, the barrister, also owns a farm he has never seen and can not find. About 80 acres down in the Laurelville hills.

Irv Thomas will show the hunters something this fall—he hopes. Has bought a 60 pound bow and a lot of arrows and is practicing daily. Not a bad shot, either. Says he intends to do all his hunting with a bow and arrow come next season.

Dr. Kerns likes to spend his weekly half holiday at Buckeye lake. Sometimes he catches fish, most of the time he says he just went for the outing. Wednesday evening, however, he bragged a little. Landed a two and one half pound bass, which is a pretty good fish for these parts.

Frank Fischer dropped in with his sugar rationing instructions. Read a paragraph about how the ration for beekeepers is to be figured. Wheelbase of the queen bee is multiplied by something or other and then divided several ways. The result is manipulated some and then the bee-keeper gives up and says: I'll take whatever you are willing to give me.

Chatted with Carl Hunter, who is appearing downtown for short intervals each day. Has not yet recovered his strength lost in a siege of illness. Also said howdy to Sam Rader, who has been ill for a long time and once more is putting in personal appearances.

More rumors that the Army camp is to come in south of us. I have felt for some time that it would come, but have been doubtful of the date. Greeted Louis Martin, of the Circle theatre, just back from several weeks basking in the Florida sunshine.

Fewer and fewer young men seen on the streets. Those who have not been called by the draft appear to be seeking admission in the air corps. Every day sees a half dozen or more heading for Dayton where some of them are accepted, others rejected.

Dropped in at City Hall and heard police questioning three youngsters about a series of thefts in the ville. Seems that quite a gang of boys have participated in raids on property of other folk. The thought struck me that the safety razor and the common use of coal may have a lot to do with the fall of some kids. The best straightener of which I ever had knowledge was a razor strap properly applied in the woodshed. One whack with that thing was more convincing than a thousand words.

He has even sent for his old socialist friends, including some previously exiled to France. And they have sat around talking about the good old days when they were young.

Most significant is the fact that Mussolini lets his mind wander back especially to the days when he had no money, no pomp, no saluting legions.

Maybe this is insanity. Maybe it is just getting back to sanity after twenty long years of delusions of grandeur.

Binocular Vision May Cause Various Troubles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
ONE OF MY readers has been interested in the statement she saw in the newspapers that a prominent lecturer had been cured of aniseikonia and wanted me to explain something of the nature of the disease and the way it is treated.

Aniseikonia is a very rare and peculiar disease of the eyes in which the patient apparently loses his ability to maintain normal binocular vision. We have very little knowledge of how we manage to achieve binocular vision.

Conditions in Infancy

It is probable that a baby looking at a certain object sees two objects and sees them upside down. Somehow or other in the course of the first six months of life we are able to train our eyes so that we reverse the image so that it is right side up, we fuse the two images so that we see only one, and we also see perspective. In other words, we see the object in spatial relation to depth.

When these functions get disturbed they are often difficult, but sometimes easy to correct. For instance, the external muscles may become paralyzed which would throw the eyes off-balance and cause double vision. This can be corrected by glasses, but the trouble in aniseikonia is that the individual sees two images of unequal size. For instance, looking at a chair, he not only sees two chairs, but one of them is larger than the other.

This obviously cannot be corrected with any simple form of glasses and oculists have been studying it for 15 or 20 years without making a great deal of progress until recently. The credit for the successful correction of aniseikonia belongs to Dr. Adelbert Ames, Jr. at the Dartmouth Eye Institute in Hanover, New Hampshire.

The individual with aniseikonia is subject to a large number of other troubles with his eyes. He is likely to be sensitive to light, to have ear and train sickness, pain in his eyes, and naturally he has excessive nervousness and is either unable to read at all or unable to read over long periods.

A number of physicians have felt that a large part of this condition is due to neurasthenia and can be corrected by psychology. They have not, however, had a great deal of success in treating cases in this way.

It is unnecessary and it would be confusing to attempt to explain the methods which Dr.

Ames and his associates and a few other clinics in the United States have used. Suffice it to say that he uses lenses of considerable complexity: some of them fit over other lenses and some of them are lenses which are known as doublet lenses—two lenses separated by an air space. The most successful lens used today is the so-called laminated bitoric bifocal lens.

Advances Made

It is not to be expected that the details of these treatments will be understood by the average reader of this article. My only purpose in writing it is to tell those who have been afflicted for some time and who may have been discouraged that at the present time advances have been made in the diagnostic classification of the disease and that there is treatment by lenses which will render them able to have normal or nearly normal vision.

The fact that the lenses are a good deal of trouble and require considerable care and are quite expensive is of no consequence to the patient with aniseikonia because the disability is such as practically to disable him from performing any of the functions of life.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. H.:—"When is the best time to give cod liver oil, before or after meals?"

Answer: There is a general rule that any medicine is absorbed better on an empty stomach before meals than after and this applies to this question.

A. F. D.:—"In tuberculosis does calcium calcify tissue? Would a constant intake of calcium help to cause hardening of the arteries?"

Answer: The body gets calcium in such large quantities under ordinary circumstances that these questions have no meaning. Calcification of inflamed areas is a good thing for the tuberculosis patient and calcification of the arteries does little, if any, harm, so it doesn't make a great deal of difference.

A. R.:—"Is it true that bad teeth, that is, teeth with jagged edges can cause cancerous growths on cheek, lip or tongue?"

Answer: Yes. This is one of the principle dangers of teeth of that kind.

SYNOPSIS

Three young airline hostesses, TIBBY LANE, sweet and natural; STERNA WINTERS, beautiful and sophisticated, and MARG BAKER, plain, sturdy and direct, share an apartment together in New York, where they are based. A friend of Tibby's, TOMMY DARE, is spending his first year out of medical school at a clinic in Brooklyn.

YESTERDAY: When Tibby is called for an undelivered letter, she discovers that Sterna has borrowed her only uniform.

CHAPTER SIX

TIBBY DID NOT know, on her way to the field, what explanation for missing her flight she would give. She did not think, as she had told Marg, that it would help to lay the blame on Sterna. No one respected a tattletale, Sterna, as well as Tibby, might lose her job, although from what Marg had said about their roommate's having gotten in so "smoothly" with Mr. Courtwright that was not so likely.

Tibby wished she could make her explanations to someone besides Wayne Courtwright. She did not know Mr. Courtwright, but she had heard enough about him. Anyone employed by the airline was bound to have heard about him. Not just because he was one of "the heads." He was a sort of figurehead in every way.

It seemed that his position was only a sort of by-line; he had so much money he need not have worked at anything. He was a flyer, one of the old-timers who had taken all the risks and had all the thrills. He was a bachelor, from choice, not necessity, as he had to carry a club to keep the women away, so the saying went. He was hard as steel, ruthless when it came to getting his own way, impenetrable. So the rumors went.

It was small wonder that Tibby's knees felt like liquid and she had an emptiness in her middle when she was admitted to his private office. She wondered if she would be able to find her voice in order to make any kind of explanation.

"Well, what can I do for you?" Wayne Courtwright glanced up with unconcealed impatience from the papers on his wide mahogany desk, glanced as indifferently away. His looks conformed with the rumors. Lean, hard and keen. It was easier to picture him behind the stick of a plane, the wheel of a yacht, on horseback, sighting along a rifle barrel, than behind a desk.

Tibby said, "I came to try to explain why I missed my flight. It wasn't take but a minute of your time." She had found her voice, after all, and with it a little of her courage. Surely Mr. Courtwright could spare a minute or so. He could not be that busy.

"Well . . ." he did not glance up again. He stacked a sheath of papers, pushed them aside, reached for another pile.

He meant for her to get on with her explanation. He did not mean to help her the least bit. Tibby thought the head of organizations should be more human; it would not have hurt any, not only the people he had to handle, but himself. She decided the rumors were mild.

"I didn't expect a call until tomorrow," she began.

"You're supposed to hold yourself in readiness for a call at any time." Mr. Courtwright did not let her get far. He rattled the papers with more unconcealed impatience.

"I know," Tibby said quietly. She saw it was not going to be any use, even if she had a reasonable explanation, which she did not. For since she could not give it all, without tattling, there was no uniform to the cleaners. It did not get back in time." She gave him the bare facts. He could take them or leave them.

"You should not leave the element of time up to a cleaning establishment," Mr. Courtwright's tone was as brusque and impersonal as his words. "The company allows sufficient time in which to attend to all such details. Were you late for the proposed flight, or did you miss it entirely?" He glanced up at Tibby again from beneath thick, dark brows. His eyes—they were a sort of gray color, like steel again—seemed to see clear through her.

She said, "I missed it entirely." Nothing more.

"We just dismissed one of our best pilots for that same offense," he informed her. Now he pushed the papers aside, pushed back his chair as well, gave her his undivided attention.

Tibby said, "I do not think I deserve to be dismissed. This is my first offense." She had heard the story about the pilot; he had been constantly late; it had not been the first flight he had missed. "It was not intentional, I assure you. It will never happen again."

She had all her courage back, to speak up like that. But if she were to be fired anyway, what difference did it make? Besides, Tibby believed in fair play. It was not fair that she should lose her position, even when all the facts were not included.

"You are not in a position to decide what you deserve." His eyes bored through her. "The company cannot put up with such carelessness, unintentional or otherwise. It may seem trivial to you—to miss a flight. But it is proof of further deficiencies in character. In flying, excuses are not acceptable. There should not be any need for them."

Tibby knew what he meant; flying was too responsible and dangerous for anyone connected in any way with it to make mistakes. This applied to the lowliest grease-monkey, the line crew, the personnel in the offices, radio men, meteorologists, as well as the pilots and hostesses. All are entrusted with the safety and lives of the passengers.

"I am not offering excuses." Her dark eyes did not seek to avoid his look, though the high color flooded her face. "I am only asking for a chance to prove that it will not happen again. I realize it is not trivial—certainly not to me. I love my work. It means everything to me. That's why I came to you immediately—hoping you would try to be understanding, at least—rather than wait to be dismissed."

Now she flung back her head with a proud little movement. "Thank you very much, just the same, Mr. Courtwright. I shan't take up any more of your time."

She would have turned to walk from his office. It was the end of everything. She might as well face it. Besides, she had to get away. She could not have endured another moment under that cold, severe scrutiny. It made her very soul shiver up.

"Not so fast." His voice brought her to a stop. He had gotten to his feet, come from behind his enormous desk. He was as tall as she was lean. He wore his clothes with a casual elegance. His gray eyes did not seem quite so much like steel. He said, "I did not say I wouldn't give you another chance. You take entirely too much on yourself, Miss . . ."

"Lane," Tibby supplied. But now her knees were water again, her courage melting. This retrieve had come too suddenly; the relief and hope were too heavy.

Her face must have betrayed this. Wayne Courtwright offered her a chair, practically putting her into it. "My time is not so valuable," he said, "that I cannot spare another second or so." He sat down, though not behind the desk. Somehow he did not appear so severe, sitting as he was now, one long, lean leg swung carelessly over the other, head tilted back. There was even a trace of dry humor around his handsome mouth. For he was handsome, in his own way, as a thoroughbred horse is beautiful, a gleaming ship in trim and arrogant.

"I have a hunch," he commented, as his eyes searched her face, still flushed, but becomingly so, her direct soft eyes that could never be anything but honest, "that there is more to this than you have told me, but if you do not care to tell, that is up to you. So you love flying . . ."

His voice lost its severe, impersonality; it actually did hold a human quality. "It means more to you than anything else. If you mean that, you are the sort of person we want to keep—not to lose. And I think you do mean it . . ."

"Oh, yes, I do!" That shining look came back into Tibby's eyes, lighting her face, making it lovely, so lovely that Wayne Courtwright's keen eyes did not miss it, for he recognized true beauty when he encountered it, having been a connoisseur of so much that was only surface or that would fade. "It's good of you—kind—to give me another chance." She was sorry she had misjudged him. It was kind and good, human. She realized he had to be severe. It was fine of him not to press her to tell what she did not wish to, since he had surmised there was more that she withheld.

"I promise," she added shyly, "that you shan't be sorry."

"I'm confident I shan't be," he said, his eyes smiling deeply into hers.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour By Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a glorious morning of sunshine and soft breeze with birds in happy song, flowers in bloom, the world happy and contented with the passing of Winter. Not even the war news could spoil such a day. Sat before an open window to see the morning prints and enjoy first coffee of the day, always like the first cigaret, the very best.

Stopped at the post and then headed toward the plant. Wondered as I passed the courthouse just how long Forest Short owned that Pike county farm that has just been located for him by the government. Several years, I know, for I heard him trying to sell it sight-unseen, about three years ago. Probably never would have found it had the government not decided that it needs the land for some project. Joe Adams, the barrister, also owns a farm he has never seen and can not find. About 80 acres down in the Laurelville hills.

Irv Thomas will show the hunters something this fall—he hopes. Has bought a 60 pound bow and a lot of arrows and is practicing daily. Not a bad shot, either. Says he intends to do all his hunting with a bow and arrow come next season.

Dr. Kerns likes to spend his weekly half holiday at Buckeye lake. Sometimes he catches fish, most of the time he says he just went for the outing. Wednesday evening, however, he bragged a little. Landed a two and one half pound bass, which is a pretty good fish for these parts.

Frank Fischer dropped in with his sugar rationing instructions. Read a paragraph about how the ration for beekeepers is to be figured. Wheelbase of the queen bee is multiplied by something or other and then divided several ways. The result is manipulated some and then the bee-keeper gives up and says: I'll take whatever you are willing to give me.

Chatted with Carl Hunter, who is appearing downtown for short intervals each day. Has not yet recovered his strength lost in a siege of illness. Also said howdy to Sam Rader, who has been ill for a long time and once more is putting in personal appearances.

More rumors that the Army camp is to come in south of us. I have felt for some time that it would come, but have been doubtful of the date. Greeted Louis Martin, of the Circle theatre, just back from several weeks basking in the Florida sunshine.

Fewer and fewer young men seen on the streets. Those who have not been called by the draft appear to be seeking admission in the air corps. Every day sees a half dozen or more heading for Dayton where some of them are accepted, others rejected.

Dropped in at City Hall and heard police questioning three youngsters about a series of thefts in the ville. Seems that quite a gang of boys have participated in raids on property of other folk. The thought struck me that the safety razor and the common use of coal may have a lot to do with the fall of some kids. The best straightener of which I ever had knowledge was a razor strap properly applied in the woodshed. One whack with that thing was more convincing than a thousand words.

Wayne PTA Selects New Corps Of Officers

More Than 100 At Session Closing Year's Activities

William Barthelmas was elected president of Wayne Parent-Teacher association when the corps of officers for the coming year was chosen Friday in the school auditorium. More than 100 attended the meeting which marked the close of activities of the organization until fall.

Mr. Barthelmas will have on his staff, George Mallet as vice president, Mrs. John Dearth as secretary, and Miss Nellie Campbell as treasurer. Mrs. Ross Hamilton, retiring president, conducted the meeting.

The pupils of the school were presented in recital by Mrs. Hamilton, instructor of music.

The Mother's Day theme was carried out in the various numbers, a song, "Spelling Love," by first and second grade pupils being the opening selection. Barbara Campbell continued the entertainment with a piano solo, "Dream Boat"; recitation, "Mother's Day," Genevieve Boyer; piano solo, "Cuckoo" by Bobby Green; reading, "Origin of Mother's Day," Elizabeth Stevenson; Peep Show, "The Gypsies and the Donkey," third and fourth grade pupils; vocal duet, "Let Me Help," Richard McAbee and June Speakman; piano solo, "Happy Farmer," Daisy Boyer; exercise, "Mother," first and second grade pupils; piano solo, "Long, Long Ago," Nelson Cupp; recitation, "My Speech," Tommy Anderson; piano solo, Patsy Schaffer; recitation, "On Mother's Day," Ann Downing; "The Caisson Song," the Tonette band of the school; playlet, "A Surprise for Mother," fifth grade; playlet, sixth grade; two piano solos, "Thunderstorm" and "Fairy Dance," Margaret Dearth; piano solo, "The Wishing Star," Lois Campbell; recitation, "That's Mother," Ella Jean DeWise; piano solo, "Ivy," June Speakman; playlet, "I do, I do, I do," seventh and eighth grades; piano solo, "Blue Danube," Clara Marie Greene, and group song, "The Little Old Shawl My Mother Wore," the school chorus.

Refreshments served by Mrs. J. Austin Dowden, assisted by Miss Mary Stewart, concluded the session.

Pickaway School Play
The senior class of Pickaway township high school will present "Mother-in-Law Blues" in the school auditorium Friday, May 1, at 8:30 p. m.

This lively and hilariously amusing play was written by Kenneth Creel, young playwright and scenario writer.

The entire action takes place in the living room of the Dillon home in an eastern summer resort town.

The cast of characters includes Honey Dillon, a lovely young bride, Dorothy Hinton; Woody Dillon, Honey's troubled husband, Fred Emmelt; Angel, a colored maid, Polly Wilson; Mrs. Tabitha Squibb, Woody's mother-in-law, Helen Wilson; Frances Biddle, a human broadcasting station, Evon Dodd; Harvey Mortimer, a wealthy manufacturer, Wayne Brundige; Sylvia Arthur, Honey's best girl friend, Evelyn Strawser; Lucky Mills, who thinks a lot of himself, Junior Stuckey; Orson Tuttle, formerly engaged to Honey, Junior Holdren; Rita Harvard, an air-line stewardess, Beatrice Rhoades; Hester Cummings, who arrives without an invitation, Bertha Kerns; Letta, a friend of Hester's, Mildred Minor; Mrs. Anna Hare, a young widow, Irene Hall.

The play is under the direction of Miss Mildred O. Wertman of the teaching staff of the school. Lee Smith is in charge of the stage sets. Music will be furnished by the high school band.

Circleville W. C. T. U.
Circleville W. C. T. U. held its spring institute Friday at the home of Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, North Pickaway street, all-day session beginning at 10:30 a. m. Miss Mary Harpster, Kingston, county president, attended the meeting and told interesting high lights of the mid-year meeting of the state W. C. T. U.

Ten members gathered for the session which was devoted to plans for department work for the coming year.

An excellent cooperative lunch was served during the noon recess.

Dorcas Pathfinder Class
Nine members of the Dorcas Pathfinder class of the Calvary Evangelical church enjoyed an informal social evening, Friday in the social room of the church.

The brief business hour was in charge of Mrs. George Lumpe, vice president, who read the scripture lesson during the devotional period. Mrs. Mark DeLong offered prayer.

Mrs. W. D. Ramsey and Mrs. Pearl DeLong were hostesses for the session.

Washington Grange
Washington grange had its regular meeting Friday in the school auditorium with an excellent attendance of members.

The lecture hour program arranged by Miss Ethyl May included a reading by John Bolender; violin solo, Mrs. Russell Palm; roll call and discussion and several piano solos by Miss Dorothy Glick as the closing number.

During the business hour conducted by Ralph DeLong, master, it was decided to purchase a picture of the late Walter F. Kirk, state grange master. It was announced that a Mother's Day program by the Juvenile Grangers would be presented at the next session. Mrs. Marvin Stealy, juvenile matron, will be in charge.

U. B. Aid
The Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church will meet in the community house Thursday at 2 p. m.

Birthday Party
Mrs. Elizabeth Lumpe, superintendent of Berger hospital, was honored at a surprise birthday party Thursday at her home on North Pickaway street, the affair being arranged by the staff of nurses of the hospital.

The informal social evening was concluded with a carry-in lunch. Mrs. Lumpe received a birthday gift from the group.

Present were Mrs. Mary Beougher, Mrs. Mary Barr, Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Marguerite Waites, Mrs. Robert Pickens, Miss Margaret Fuller, Aaron Lumpe and Charles Kirkpatrick.

PERSONALS

The corsage, cool against the brown gown, is white double violets.

Mounted over a matching crepe slip, this dark tobacco brown chiffon dinner gown has long sleeves and covered back; the bodice cuts low above a folded bosom.

The slightly trained skirt clings below a fitted yolk to expand to a full hemline.

THREE colors stand out most unexpectedly in the new collections, considering that the season is spring; also the amount of gold embroideries and sequins detailing both gowns and dinner jackets is also a novel vernal fashion note.

The colors are dark brown, dark green and navy blue... among which we'll wager a cookie that the brown tone will have smartest acceptance. All-white for evening, perennial spring and summer favorite, is urged without jewels, gloves or flowers for new chic.

'42 CLASS PLAY CLASS HAS OWN LITTLE THEATRE

As the 30th of April and the first day of May steadily approach, Samuel Johnson, dramatics coach of Circleville high school, and his group of senior Theatrics are hard at work bringing the play, "Smilin' Through" to perfection.

Although this play in which Jane Cowd starred is a comedy, there is a strain of sweetness throughout the story which endears it to all who know it.

The characters of the story and those who will bring them to life this week are: Sarah Wayne—Marcella Cunningham, Mary Clare—Jean Imler, John Carteret—William Burget, Dr. Owen Harding—Glenn Barnhart, Ellen—Lillian Thompson, Kathleen Dungan—Mary Lou Kochheiser, Willie Ainley—Robert Goeffer, Kenneth Wayne—Harry Clifton, and Robert Kline, Jeremiah Wayne—Harry Clifton, Mooney Clare—Mary Lou Kochheiser, guest at the wedding—Marcella Cunningham.

Dorothy Cook is managing the business pertaining to the play and other staffs are obtaining the properties and costumes.

Tickets for the play will go on reserve at the usual downtown place of business Tuesday morning at 8:00 o'clock.

30 TO COMPETE IN ANNUAL TEST AT O.S.U. MAY 2

Saturday, May 2, a C.H.S. scholarship team of 30 pupils will journey to Ohio State university as this school's representatives to the annual District-state scholarship examinations. These exams are given annually in Derby Hall. Teachers select two pupils from each of the subjects to represent the school.

Last week in the "Red and Black" a partial list of the students to represent Circleville was published. This list was still incomplete at press time.

Circleville pupils chosen to take the exams, so far, are: biology, Barton Deming and Glenn McCoy; algebra, Ned Barthelmas and Jane Reid; plane geometry, Elizabeth Downing and Jerald Mason; American history, Dorothy Cook and Eugene Weaver; world history, Mark Schumm and Ned Stout; Latin I, Harry Briner and Joe Sanders; Latin II, Norma Anderson and Wanda Turner.

French I, Walter Leist and Robert Schumm; French II, Martha Kilian and Lois Madison; English I, Carrie Arledge and Miriam Turner; English III, Amanda Cayce and Patty Owens; English IV, William Burget and Janet Funk; bookkeeping, William Ernst and Martha Pile; typing I, Ruth Blum and Florence Dresbach; shorthand I, Floyd England and Dorothy Glenn shorthand II, Betty Moeller and Eleanor Weaver.

JUNIOR RESERVE HAS ANNUAL TEA

About fifty faculty members attended the annual tea given in their honor by the Junior Girl Reserves Thursday afternoon from 4:15 to 5:45.

President Mary Crites and Vice-President Mona Lee Hanley presided at the tea table. The program included four songs by the C.H.S. sextet, "My Hero," "Deep in My Heart," "In My Garden" and "When Day Is Done"; a tap dance by Jo Doolittle; and a musical background for the event by pianist Ruth Blum.

Committees were appointed Wednesday to serve for the Junior Girl Reserve Mother-daughter banquet scheduled for May 14.

Those chosen are: decoration and favor committee—co-chairmen Mary Crites and Betty Lou Boggs, Eleanor Beck, Norma Jean Clifton, Lillian Stein and Wanda Turner; program committee—chairman Carolyn Herrmann, Ruth Blum and Jo Doolittle; table and chair committee—chairman Catherine Betz, Norma Coffland, Maxine Friedman, Norma Raub and Jane Reid; clean-up committee—chairman Lurose Fricke, Carrie Arledge and Eloise Morgan.

The club will attend St. Philip's Episcopal church, 10:15 tomorrow.

CLUB PREPARES FOR GALA EVENT

Hi-Y members will devote nearly all of their meeting time to the preparation of the annual Hi-Y Sweetheart banquet, May 8.

Highlights of the evening are: the food—baked ham, baked potatoes, hot rolls, fruit salad, cake and ice cream, milk and coffee prepared by the mothers of several Hi-Y members; the change in officers—short speeches by several of them; the presentation of national membership to the Hi-Y club by S. Ezra McCullough, district Hi-Y supervisor for the Y. M. C. A.; a short talk by Thomas Armstrong, club adviser; and dancing in the social room the remainder of the evening to recorded music from the Junior class nickelodeon.

H. S. CURRICULUM OF '43 CHANGED

Superintendent Frank Fischer has announced two major changes in the curriculum of Circleville high school beginning September, 1942.

Spanish will be offered to all juniors and seniors. The class in French II will be given; however French I will be given only if there is a sufficient demand. Miss Mary Walters teaches French and will also teach Spanish.

Second is the changing of American history to grade 11 and social science to grade 12, exactly the reverse of the present arrangement. This second change is in line with what is being done in most places in Ohio. A year of transition is of course necessary. During the school year 1942-1943, American history will be required of all juniors and seniors; whereas, social science will not be offered again until 1943-1944 when the above program will go into effect.

Catherine Ramsey, junior, withdrew from Circleville high school two weeks ago. Catherine was to have been editor at this time. The staff members, on behalf of the faculty and student body, wish to express their regret that Catherine was unable to complete her year's work here.

Each six weeks a student in the journalism class of eight is selected to serve as editor.

EDITORIAL

Your reporter, having been assigned the task of writing an editorial, arrived at the conclusion that the following excerpt from "The Incentive," June 1853, published by the superintendent, teachers and students of the Circleville Public Schools would be more interesting than an editorial he would write.

THE FLOGGING OF A PRINCE

"The London correspondent of a North German paper relates a story with regard to the way in which Prince Albert disciplines his children, which the Tribune translates as follows:

"The young prince stood one day in his room in the royal palace at Windsor at the window, whose panes reached to the floor. He had a lesson to learn by heart, but instead was amusing himself by looking out into the garden and playing on the window with his fingers. His governess, Miss Hillyard, an earnest and pious person, observed this, and kindly asked him to think of getting his lesson.

"The young Prince said: 'I don't want to.' Then, said Miss Hillyard, 'I must put you in the corner.' 'I won't learn,' answered the little fellow resolutely, 'and I won't stand in the corner, for I am the Prince of Wales.' And as he said this he knocked out one of the window panes with his foot.

"At this Miss Hillyard rose from her seat and said: 'Sir, you must learn, or I must put you in a corner.' 'I won't,' said he, knocking out the second pane. The governess then rang, and told the servant who entered to say to Prince Albert that she requested the presence of his Royal Highness immediately on a pressing matter connected with his son.

"The devoted father came at once, and heard the statement of the whole matter, after which he turned to his little son and said, pointing to an ottoman, 'Sit down there and wait till I return.' Then Prince Albert brought a Bible. 'Listen now,' he said to the Prince of Wales, 'to what the Holy Apostle Paul says to you and other children in your position.' Hereupon he read Galatians IV, 1 and 2: 'Now I say that the heir so long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a servant, though he be lord of all; but is under tutor's and governors until the time appointed of the fathers.' 'It is true,' continued Prince Albert, 'that you are the Prince of Wales, and if you conduct yourself properly you may become a man of high station, and even after the death of your mother, may become King of England. But now you are a little boy who must obey his tutors and governors. Besides, I must impress upon you another saying, of the wise Solomon, in Proverbs XIII, 24: 'He that spareth his rod, hateth his son; but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes.'"

"Hereupon the father took out a rod and gave the heir to the throne of the weightiest empire of Christendom, a very palpable switching, and then stood him up in the corner saying, 'You will stand here and study your lesson till Miss Hillyard gives you leave to come out. And never forget again that you are now under tutors and governors, and that hereafter you will be under a law given by God.'"

"This," adds the correspondent, "is an excellent Christian mode of education, which every citizen and peasant who has a child may well take to his heart as a model."

"It may be proper to add that the youngster who is represented to have received this paternal admonition, is but 11 years old."

RED AND BLACK

As the fifth six weeks' period came to an end, George Helwagen replaced Ann Hott as editor of the Red and Black. His assistants are Jerald Mason and Julius Nash. William Rutherford succeeds Julius Nash as exchange editor.

Catherine Ramsey, junior, withdrew from Circleville high school two weeks ago. Catherine was to have been editor at this time. The staff members, on behalf of the faculty and student body, wish to express their regret that Catherine was unable to complete her year's work here.

BOYS OUTRANKED BY GIRLS, 48-22; SOPHS, LEADERS

With only five and a half more weeks of school ahead of them, about 1,500 pupils of Circleville public schools received their grade cards Wednesday.

In the high school, 70 are listed on this fifth six weeks' honor roll, more than any of the last four. On the initial roll this year were 62, followed by 60, 67, 63 and now 70.

Girls outnumber boys again 48 to 22. On the first honor roll (average of 3.66 or above) are 28, leaving 42 pupils on the second roll (average between 3.2 and 3.6 inclusive) I'm sure you know how to formulate the averages. Your reporter believes that repetition of the explanation would be bore-some.

As to class quantities of its qualities, the Sophomores lead with 22 on the combined rolls. Seniors follow with 20; Freshmen 16; and 12 Juniors.

GOLF AND TRACK TEAMS HAVE VICTORIOUS WEEK

This week Circleville High's golf and track teams were successful in their various contests.

Wednesday, the track team won a meet at Groveport with Groveport and New Albany. Circleville's score was 81, Groveport's 41 and New Albany's 17. Mifflin, although they came to the meet, brought only a broad jumper and a mile relay team because they thought the meet was Friday and hence came practically unprepared.

Thursday, the golf team returned from Columbus North high school with an 8-4 decision over the golfers of that school. The day was climaxed for Circleville with a hole-in-one by John Woods, Circleville's number one man.

No. 13 was lucky for Woods, his remarkable feat coming there on the Scarlet heat of the University Golf Course.

Wayne PTA Selects
New Corps Of Officers

More Than 100 At Session Closing
Year's Activities

William Barthelmas was elected president of Wayne Parent-Teacher association when the corps of officers for the coming year was chosen Friday in the school auditorium. More than 100 attended the meeting which marked the close of activities of the organization until fall.

Mr. Barthelmas will have on his staff, George Mallet as vice president, Mrs. John Dearth as secretary, and Miss Nellie Campbell as treasurer. Mrs. Ross Hamilton, retiring president, conducted the meeting.

The pupils of the school were presented in recital by Mrs. Hamilton, instructor of music.

The Mother's Day theme was carried out in the various numbers, a song, "Spelling Love," by first and second grade pupils being the opening selection. Barbara Campbell continued the entertainment with a piano solo, "Dream Boat"; recitation, "Mother's Day," Genevieve Boyer; piano solo, "Cuckoo" by Bobby Green; reading, "Origin of Mother's Day," Elizabeth Stevenson; Peep Show, "The Gypsies and the Donkey," third and fourth grade pupils; vocal duet, "Let Me Help," Richard McAbee and June Speakman; piano solo, "Happy Farmer," Daisy Boyer; exercise, "Mother," first and second grade pupils; piano solo, "Long, Long Ago," Nelson Cupp; recitation, "My Speech," Tommy Anderson; piano solo, Patsy Schaffer; recitation, "On Mother's Day," Ann Downing; "The Caisson Song," the Tonette band of the school; playlet, "A Surprise for Mother," fifth grade; playlet, sixth grade, two piano solos, "Thunderstorm" and "Fairy Dance," Margaret Dearth; piano solo, "The Wishing Star," Lois Campbell; recitation, "That's Mother," Ella Jean DeWise; piano solo, "Ivy," June Speakman; playlet, "I do, I do, I do," seventh and eighth grades; piano solo, "Blue Danube," Clara Marie Greene, and group song, "The Little Old Shawl My Mother Wore," the school chorus.

Refreshments served by Mrs. J. Austin Dowden, assisted by Miss Mary Stewart, concluded the session.

Pickaway School Play

The senior class of Pickaway township high school will present "Mother-in-Law Blues" in the school auditorium Friday, May 1, at 8:30 p. m.

This lively and hilariously amusing play was written by Kenneth Creel, young playwright and scenario writer.

The entire action takes place in the living room of the Dillon home in an eastern summer resort town.

The cast of characters includes Honey Dillon, a lovely young bride, Dorothy Hinton; Woody Dillon, Honey's troubled husband, Fred Immelt; Angel, a colored maid, Polly Wilson; Mrs. Tabitha Squibb, Woody's mother-in-law, Helen Wilson; Frances Biddle, a human broadcasting station, Evon Dodd; Harvey Mortimer, a wealthy manufacturer, Wayne Brundige; Sylvia Arthur, Honey's best girl friend, Evelyn Strawser; Lucky Mills, who thinks a lot of himself, Junior Stuckey; Orson Tuttle, formerly engaged to Honey, Junior Holdren; Rita Harvard, an air-line stewardess, Beatrice Rhoades; Hester Cummings, who arrives without an invitation, Bertha Kerns; Leta, a friend of Hester's, Mildred Minor; Mrs. Anna Hare, a young widow, Irene Hall.

The play is under the direction of Miss Mildred O. Wertman of the teaching staff of the school. Lee Smith is in charge of the stage sets. Music will be furnished by the high school band.

Circleville W. C. T. U.

Circleville W. C. T. U. held its spring institute Friday at the home of Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, North Pickaway street, all-day session beginning at 10:30 a. m. Miss Mary Harpster, Kingston, county president, attended the meeting and told interesting highlights of the mid-year meeting of the state W. C. T. U.

Ten members gathered for the session which was devoted to plans for department work for the coming year.

An excellent cooperative lunch was served during the noonday recess.

Dorcas Pathfinder Class

Nine members of the Dorcas Pathfinder class of the Calvary Evangelical church enjoyed an informal social evening, Friday in the social room of the church.

The brief business hour was in charge of Mrs. George Lumpe, vice president, who read the scripture lesson during the devotional period. Mrs. Mark DeLong offered prayer.

'42 CLASS PLAY CLASS HAS OWN
IN FINAL WEEK LITTLE THEATRE

As the 30th of April and the first day of May steadily approach, Samuel Johnson, dramatics coach of Circleville high school, and his group of senior Thespians are hard at work bringing the play, "Smilin' Through" to perfection.

Although this play in which Jane Cowl starred is a comedy, there is a strain of sweetness throughout the story which endears it to all who know it.

The characters of the story and those who will bring them to life this week are: Sarah Wayne—Marcella Cunningham, Mary Clare—Jean Imler, John Carteret—William Burget, Dr. Owen Harding—Glenn Barnhart, Ellen—Lillian Thompson, Kathleen Dugamon—Mary Lou Kochheiser, Willie Ainley—Robert Goelker, Kenneth Wayne—Harry Clifton and Robert Kline, Jeremiah Wayne—Harry Clifton, Mooneyear Clare—Mary Lou Kochheiser, guest at the wedding—Marcella Cunningham.

Dorothy Cook is managing the business pertaining to the play and other staffs are obtaining the properties and costumes.

Tickets for the play will go on reserve at the usual downtown place of business Tuesday morning at 8:00 o'clock.

EDITORIAL

Your reporter, having been assigned the task of writing an editorial, arrived at the conclusion that the following excerpt from "The Incentive," June 1853, published by the superintendent, teachers and students of the Circleville Public Schools would be more interesting than an editorial he would write.

THE FLOGGING OF A PRINCE

"The London correspondent of a North German paper relates a story with regard to the way in which Prince Albert disciplines his children, which the Tribune translates as follows:

"The young prince stood one day in his room in the royal palace at Windsor at the window, whose panes reached to the floor. He had a lesson to learn by heart, but instead was amusing himself by looking out into the garden and playing on the window with his fingers. His governess, Miss Hillyard, an earnest and pious person, observed this, and kindly asked him to think of getting his lesson.

"The young Prince said: 'I don't want to.' Then, said Miss Hillyard, 'I must put you in the corner.' 'I won't learn,' answered the little fellow resolutely, 'and I won't stand in the corner, for I am the Prince of Wales.' And as he said this he knocked out one of the window panes with his foot.

"At this Miss Hillyard rose from her seat and said: 'Sir, you must learn, or I must put you in a corner.' 'I won't,' said he, knocking out the second pane. The governess then rang, and told the servant who entered to say to Prince Albert that she requested the presence of his Royal Highness immediately on a pressing matter connected with his son.

"The devoted father came at once, and heard the statement of the whole matter, after which he turned to his little son and said, pointing to his little son and said, 'Sit down and wait till I return.' Then Prince Albert brought a Bible. 'Listen now,' he said to the Prince of Wales, 'to what the Holy Apostle Paul says to you and other children in your position.' Hereupon he read Galatians IV, 1 and 2: 'Now I say that the heir so long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a servant, though he be lord of all; but is under tutor's and governors until the time appointed of the fathers.' 'It is true,' continued Prince Albert, 'that you are the Prince of Wales, and if you conduct yourself properly you may become a man of high station, and even after the death of your mother, may become King of England. But now you are a little boy who must obey his tutors and governors. Besides, I must impress upon you another saying, of the wise Solomon, in Proverbs XIII, 24: 'He that spareth his rod, hateth his son; but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes.' 'Hereupon the father took out a rod and gave the heir to the throne of the weightiest empire of Christendom, a very palpable switching, and then stood him up in the corner saying, 'You will stand here and study your lesson till Miss Hillyard gives you leave to come out. And never forget again that you are now under tutors and governors, and that hereafter you will be under a law given by God.'"

"This," adds the correspondent, "is an excellent Christian mode of education, which every citizen and peasant who has a child may well take to his heart as a model."

"It may be proper to add that the youngster who is represented to have received this paternal admonition, is but 11 years old."

Mrs. Walter Kindler, East Franklin street, gave bound copies of "The Incentive" from January 1853 to April 1855 to the

BOYS OUTRANKED
BY GIRLS, 48-22;
SOPHS, LEADERS

With only five and a half more weeks of school ahead of them, about 1,500 pupils of Circleville public schools received their grade cards Wednesday.

In the high school, 70 are listed on this fifth six weeks' honor roll, more than any of the last four. On the initial roll this year were 62, followed by 60, 67, 63 and now 70.

Girls outnumber boys again 48 to 22. On the first honor roll (average of 3.66 or above) are 28, leaving 42 pupils on the second roll (average between 3.2 and 3.6 inclusive) I'm sure you know how to formulate the averages. Your reporter believes that repetition of the explanation would be bore-some.

As to class quantities of its qualities, the Sophomores lead with 22 on the combined rolls. Seniors follow with 20; Freshmen 16; and 12 Juniors.

Now, here is the honor roll:

GOLF AND TRACK TEAMS
HAVE VICTORIOUS WEEK

This week Circleville High's golf and track teams were successful in their various contests.

Wednesday, the track team won a meet at Groveport with Groveport and New Albany. Circleville's score was 81, Groveport's 41 and New Albany's 17. Miffin, although they came to the meet, brought only a broad jumper and a mile relay team because they thought the meet was Friday and hence came practically unprepared.

Thursday, the golf team returned from Columbus North high school with an 8-4 decision over the golfers of that school. The day was climaxed for Circleville with a hole-in-one by John Woods, Circleville's number one man.

No. 13 was lucky for Woods, his remarkable feat coming there on the Scarlet half of the University Golf Course.

C.H.S. Library. The pupils of C.H.S., and especially the journalism class, wish to thank Mrs. Kindler for her gift.

DERBY VICTORY MAY PERCH ON SNEAK RUNNER

CHICAGO, April 25—Is a sneaker waiting in the wings of the Kentucky Derby stage?

Will Alsab "throw off the wraps" and really be his masterful self at Churchill Downs next Saturday?

Will a filly have a chance to win the derby and become the second miss to accomplish the job in 68 years of the "Race of Roses?"

Can "Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons" produce his fourth winner with Apache this year, and tie the record of four victories for trainers set between the years of 1921 and 1933 by the famous H. J. ("Derby Dick") Thompson, conditioner for Col. E. R. Bradley?

Those are just a few of the hundreds of questions thousands of horse-loving fans would like answered before a crack group of three-year-olds parade to the post in the $75,000 added classic. And just a few of the questions a few thousand would like to be able to answer for their derby-minded brethren.

The answers are as tricky as the thoroughbreds themselves, but certain elements and circumstances surrounding horse-racing and pre-derby preps and recordings always narrow the rich and important field down to a chosen few who can stand the gaff in the mile-and-a-quarter whirl. This includes the trainers, who can always stand it, and who often pull the victor right into the golden bag.

Some of those big league clubs might explain their poor starts by referring to them simply as "delayed offensives."

The "Terrible Turk" has not only vanished from the wrestling game but also, apparently, from the front page.

How can a college graduate face the world with bold, aggressive air when his precious diploma is better known as just a sheepskin?

IRISH PREPARE GRID PREVIEW OF 1942 TEAM

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 25—The University of Notre Dame's 1942 varsity football team will stage a preview in the Irish stadium next Saturday in a game that will see the graduating seniors of the 1941 varsity taking over the role of opposition.

Next Saturday's attraction, the annual Spring game, will be played as a benefit for the widow and three children of the late Tommy Yarr, 1931 Notre Dame captain and all-American center who died of a heart ailment during the Christmas holidays. Yarr was a teammate of Frank Leahy, present Irish athletic director in 1929 and 1930. Proceeds of the game will go into a trust fund for the education of the children.

The 1942 Irish varsity will employ the Stanford type of T-formation for the first time in public following experimentation in spring practice.

Included in the old timers' lineup will be Milt Piepl, 1940 all-American fullback and Detroit Lions' star; Bernie Crimmins, 1941 all-American guard; Jim Brutz, 1941 "most valuable player" at left tackle; Capt. Paul Lillis, right tackle; Steve Juzwicz, right half;

John Kovatch, right end, and Bob Hargrave, quarterback. Assistant coach Ed (Moose) Krause, football and basketball all-American, may line up with the "old timers."

HE'S TURF'S NEW RIDING STAR

Charley Wahler

For five years an exercise boy at race tracks, Charley Wahler, above, has become one of the year's outstanding jockeys. Wahler, now riding at Jamaica, won 12 races in eight days at Maryland before he came to Jamaica. Wahler has been aboard more than 100 winners. He hails from Philadelphia.

May Quit Baseball

Eldon Auker

Star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, Eldon Auker, above, has accepted he may quit baseball to accept a full-time job in a Detroit industrial plant now engaged in war production. Auker holds a bachelor of science degree from Kansas State college. He has been in the majors for nine years, playing with Detroit, Boston and the Browns. He has won 116 games against 88 losses in that time.

DERBY VICTORY MAY PERCH ON SNEAK RUNNER

CHICAGO, April 25—Is a sneaker waiting in the wings of the Kentucky Derby stage?

Will Alsab "throw off the wraps" and really be his masterful self at Churchill Downs next Saturday?

Will a filly have a chance to win the derby and become the second miss to accomplish the job in 65 years of the "Race of Roses?"

Can "Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons" produce his fourth winner with Apache this year, and tie the record of four victories for trainers set between the years of 1921 and 1933 by the famous H. J. ("Derby Dick") Thompson, conditioner for Col. E. R. Bradley?

Those are just a few of the hundreds of questions thousands of horse-loving fans would like answered before a crack group of three-year-olds parade to the post in the $75,000 added classic. And just a few of the questions a few thousand would like to be able to answer for their derby-minded brethren.

The answers are as tricky as the thoroughbreds themselves, but certain elements and circumstances surrounding horse-racing and pre-derby preps and recordings always narrow the rich and important field down to a chosen few who can stand the gaff in the mile-and-a-quarter whirl. This includes the trainers, who can always stand it, and who often pull the victor right into the golden bag.

Some of those big league clubs might explain their poor starts by referring to them simply as "delayed offensives."

The "Terrible Turk" has not only vanished from the wrestling game but also, apparently, from the front page.

How can a college graduate face the world with bold, aggressive air when his precious diploma is better known as just a sheepskin?

CHAPPY LAYS IN COFFIN AFTER FINAL COUNT

CHICAGO, April 25—The battle-scarred body of Jack Blackburn, famous as conditioner of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, lay in a coffin today in a Chicago south side mortuary.

Blackburn "went to the canvas" for the last time yesterday in his home here, victim of a heart attack.

Bouncing jauntily along on the "come-back trail" after a recent siege of pneumonia during which his life at one time was despaired of, Blackburn was in the best of spirits shortly before his death.

He listened to the radio the night "my boy Joe" knocked out Abe Simon for the second time.

Cappy, as he was known by thousands throughout the United States, seemed to take heart when Simon went down and took the count.

His face brightened and after the fight he said he was on the way to full recovery.

Blackburn, a former fighter of note, was 58 years old.

At his bedside when death came was his wife.

His real name was Charles Henry Blackburn and he was a lightweight fighter during his days in the squared circle.

Chappy campaigned in the ring for 20 years, beginning in 1903, during which time he fought men much heavier than he. Among them were Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Jack Willie and Sam Langford, all of whom were middleweights.

By International News Service

Harold George White, Detroit rookie right-hander, is the man of the week. The sensational first yearman pitched his second consecutive shutout of the season last Thursday against the Chicago White Sox. Five days previous to this scintillating performance, the former Buffalo ace blanked the St. Louis Browns.

Although White is only 23 years old, he has been pitching professionally for five years. In 1940, he won 16 and lost but four games for Buffalo. In 1941, he won 16 and lost 12, having an earned run average of 2.74. Standing 5 feet 10, White has excellent control and fires a slider that crosses up the base; of 'em. He is cool under fire, likes the going best when it is rough.

Manager Del Baker, harassed by a weak pitching staff, must have felt like a miner discovering a nugget in a worn-out vein when he realized White's possibilities. In tossing his 4 to 0 shutout against the Browns, White heated Bob Mungrief in a pitching duel. He faced old Ted Lyons, starting his twentieth season with Chicago, in shutting out the White Sox 9 to 0 and allowing only five scattered hits, two less than he permitted the Browns to muster. Not a single pale hose reached third base as the youngster bore down.

White was born in Utica, N. Y., and is not related to the St. Louis Cardinals' Ernie White, who was born in South Carolina. Hal throws and bats right-handed. Likes Movies and mowing down opposing batsmen.

Many an ex-motorist these days is enjoying a new experience — getting down to the office without having lost his temper in traffic.

IRISH PREPARE GRID PREVIEW OF 1942 TEAM

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 25—The University of Notre Dame's 1942 varsity football team will stage a preview in the Irish stadium next Saturday in a game that will see the graduating seniors of the 1941 varsity taking over the role of opposition.

Next Saturday's attraction, the annual Spring game, will be played as a benefit for the widow and three children of the late Tommy Yarr, 1931 Notre Dame captain and all-American center who died of a heart ailment during the Christmas holidays. Yarr was a teammate of Frank Leahy, present Irish athletic director in 1929 and 1930. Proceeds of the game will go into a trust fund for the education of the children.

The 1942 Irish varsity will emulate the Stanford type of T-formation for the first time in public following experimentation in spring practice.

John Kovatch, right end, and Bob Hargrave, quarterback. Assistant coach Ed (Moose) Krause, football and basketball all-American, may line up with the "old timers."

Regulations Are Announced For Commercial Sugar Rationing

COORDINATOR OF COUNTY LISTS REQUIREMENTS

Registering Unit Must Give All Purposes For Which Sugar Is Used

OPTIONS TO BE GRANTED

Purchases May Be Made In Single Quantity Or In Four Divisions

County Coordinator George McDowell Saturday was completing plans for the registration of commercial sugar consumers next Tuesday and Wednesday, following his return from a meeting in Columbus Friday where he received information concerning the program.

Sugar sales will be frozen at midnight April 27, and Mr. McDowell pointed out that consumers will be unable to buy sugar from that date until they received their rationing books. Rationing books will be issued after consumer registration.

Here are the facts listed by Coordinator McDowell which each applicant must have when he appears for registration next Tuesday and Wednesday:

A. Official title, position, or relation to the registering unit. If the applicant is the owner, a partner (in case the owner is a partnership), an officer (in case the owner is a corporation, association, or similar organization), or the manager or the owner of the registering unit, he or she is the proper person to sign and certify the registration form.

B. The applicant must state all purposes for which sugar is used by the registering unit.

a. If sugar is purchased for resale, the Registration of Retailers and Wholesalers form will be used.

b. If the sugar is used in preparing or serving meals, other than for family use, or in manufacturing or processing a product, the Registration of Institutional and Industrial Users form and the Application for Sugar Purchase Certificate will be used.

c. If sugar is used for both resale and for institutional or industrial purposes, all three of these registration forms will be used.

d. In all cases, the applicant must sign the form in the presence of the registrar.

C. Those firms that will use the form for Retailers and Wholesalers will be required to furnish certain information to the registrar.

Retail Dealers

1. If the registering unit sells at retail answer the following: (A unit shall be deemed to sell at retail if over 50 percent of its sales of all merchandise during April, 1942, was made to household consumers.)

a. Gross sales of all meats, groceries, fruits and vegetables, etc., for week ending April 25, 1942; or if registering unit began operation after April 20, 1942, give estimated sales for the first complete calendar week of operations.

b. Sugar delivered to and accepted by registering unit during the month of November, 1941.

c. Present inventory (Number of pounds of sugar now owned by registering unit for sale).

2. If registering unit sells at wholesale, answer the following: (A unit shall be deemed to sell at wholesale if over 50 percent of its gross sales during April, 1942, was made to persons other than household consumers.)

a. Number of months in 1941 during which registering unit made deliveries of sugar.

b. Quantity of sugar delivered to and accepted by the registering unit during 1941.

Inventory Asked

c. Present inventory (Number of pounds of sugar now owned by registering unit, for sale).

3. Specific instructions are furnished to the registrar, relative to the quantity of sugar for which purchase certificates are to be issued to the registering unit. The applicant has the option of applying for the total quantity of sugar in one certificate, or in as many as four certificates, and may elect to have the certificates issued for different amounts. For example: if the registering unit is entitled to 1,000 pounds of sugar, four certificates may be issued divides as follows: 350 pounds, 250 pounds, 200 pounds, and 200 pounds, (or in any other amounts).

Information Asked

D. Those who will use the form for Institutional and Industrial Users will be required to furnish the following information:

a. Present inventory: Number of pounds of sugar now owned by the registering unit.

b. The amount of sugar used

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

The ungodly are not so; but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away.—Psalms 1:4.

A large frame barn and its contents, one cow, a corn picker and a drum of oil was destroyed Friday afternoon by a fire of undetermined origin at the Marion Dawson farm, two miles west of Clarksburg.

Chamber of Commerce directors will meet Monday noon in Betz' restaurant to discuss plans for their summer program.

Harry Winfough, 129 West Ohio street, went to Dayton Friday where he has secured a position as a typist at Wright Field.

Anna Greeno, 501 South Pickaway, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis Friday night in Berger hospital.

Mrs. Marguerite Gay of Newark, N. J., entered Berger hospital Friday as a medical patient.

Mrs. Edward Parish will be removed Sunday from University hospital, Columbus, to her home, three miles east of Circleville on Route 26.

Father Edward Reidy of St. Joseph's Catholic church was taken to Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, Saturday morning after his illness of the last several days suddenly became worse.

Circleville high school band participated Friday afternoon and evening in the Central Ohio band festival at Mt. Vernon.

The local band arrived late and marched alone, the other participating bands, including Lancaster, Upper Arlington and Mt. Vernon already having paraded.

Concerts by the four bands featured the evening program. Members of the local band were taken to Mt. Vernon in private cars.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard will be heard on the National Farm and Home hour, when he addresses a group of farmers at Enid, Oklahoma, Tuesday.

The secretary will discuss the relation of wheat to the 1942 production program and the most effective measures farmers might adopt to convert their land, machinery and efforts to winning the war.

John G. Boggs, chairman of the Pickaway county AAA committee, said that the address may be heard by Pickaway county farmers through Station WOSU at 12:30 p. m.

of staff, stepped forward and saluted dramatically. The rest of the staff saluted with him.

The visit of MacArthur, brief as it was, perhaps was one of the most dramatic incidents in the history of Australia. From the time at which he stepped from his car until he left the shrine the place was almost noiseless. While he bowed in meditation of the deeds of the Australian and New Zealand soldiers who died in the ill-fated Gallipoli campaign there was scarcely a sound in the interior of the dim shrine.

Personal Tribute

Never before had a four-star general of a foreign nation participated in ceremonies at the shrine. His personal tribute was considered the highlight of Australia's observance of Anzac day.

Immediately after Gen. MacArthur and his staff departed General Sir Thomas Blamey, commander of United Nations land forces and Lieutenant General Sir John Lavarack and Sir Ivan Mackay, commanders of Australia's first and second armies, drove up and paid their tribute to the heroes of Gallipoli on behalf of the Australian armies.

Messages from both King George VI and Prime Minister Winston Churchill were received by Prime Minister John Curtin. The king and Churchill expressed pride in Australia's war record.

W. P. HARTMAN, FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT, DIES

William Pearl Hartman, a Circleville native, died Friday at 7:45 p. m. in Columbus, Wis., where he had been living for the last few years. Complications, following an illness of several months, caused his death.

Son of the late George W. and Nancy Kesler Hartman he was born in Circleville August 19, 1886.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Margaret Sapp Hartman, whom he married in Circleville in 1910, and one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Grant, of North Court street. The only child of the couple died in infancy.

Mr. Hartman was in the canning business, as sales manager and superintendent, while in Columbus.

The body will arrive in Circleville Monday and will be at the Albaugh chapel until Tuesday when funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. by the Rev. Fr. William J. Riley of Lancaster.

Burial in charge of the Albaugh company will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Frank Lynch of South Court street and Mrs. Evan Phillips of Marion, who have been at the Hartman home in Wisconsin for the last few days, will accompany Mrs. Hartman to Circleville, Monday.

Friends of the family may call between the Albaugh chapel Monday evening.

Four of the principals who lead the fun in "The Fleet's In", new Paramount comedy with music opening Sunday at the Cliftona theatre are Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken, Dorothy Lamour and William Holden. Included in the top notch entertainment cast are Betty Jane Rhodes, Lelf Erickson, Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra featuring Bob Eberly and Helen O'Connell, Cass Daley and others. The picture runs for four days.

of such intensity," said Evening Star.

Action In Pacific

By way of keeping pace with the R. A. F., united nations warbirds in the southwestern Pacific theatre lashed out with a new attack against the Japanese-held base of Lae, New Guinea, a communique from General Douglas MacArthur's united nations headquarters announced.

Violent aerial battles over the united nations base at Port Moresby, on the southern tip of New Guinea, also were disclosed.

General MacArthur took time off from his war duties to participate in ceremonies of Anzac day at Melbourne, commemorating the 27th anniversary of the landing of Australian troops at Gallipoli during the first World war. The hero of Bataan placed a wreath on the "Rock of Remembrance" in honor of the Aussie fighters who lost their lives in that conflict.

Gloom In Burma

News from Burma continued on the gloomy side, but it was balanced off by new successes of Russia's dauntless Red army.

Japanese forces driving northward in Burma increased the threat to the vital city of Mandalay. The latest Nippon advance was achieved in the Salween river sector and Chinese reports admitted that it had carried as far as Hopong, ten miles east of the important railroad center of Taunggyi.

Chinese defenders were still holding the Japs below the Pin river on the Irrawaddy front, however, and a report from Chungking said Nippon losses were six times heavier than those suffered by the Chinese since April 10. Japanese losses were placed at 6,000 and Chinese at 1,000 in Burma fighting since that date.

Nazis Surprised

The latest exploit of the Russians was a surprise attack in the Leningrad area which penetrated enemy defenses for as much as two miles and resulted in the annihilation of more than a thousand German officers and men.

But other successes were reported at scattered sectors all the way south to the Black Sea. A supplementary communique announced the destruction of 25 German planes in addition to the 13 Nazi aircraft shot down during furious aerial fighting in the Crimea.

An interesting indication of the initiative being demonstrated by the Russians was included in a report that the Red army engineers are trying to divert rivers and streams, swollen by spring thaws,

PRINCESS SIGNS FOR ACTIVE WAR WORK IN LONDON

LONDON, April 25—Princess Elizabeth, who celebrated her 16th birthday this week, was among 200,000 16-year-old English girls who registered today under the government's new youth registration scheme.

It was believed unlikely, however, that the Princess would be called to appear for an interview as will the majority who registered since she has been a girl guide since 1937. Her experience as a girl guide qualifies her as having already been trained for use in certain emergencies.

Outfitted in her girl guide uniform, Princess Elizabeth was accompanied by her mother when she appeared at the labor exchange to fill out the regular registration form.

ANNUAL SPRING CONCERT STAGED AT KINGSTON

Annual spring concert of Kingston high school was presented Friday evening at the school auditorium, with Glen Uhl, Kingston school music director, in charge of the program.

Pupils from the first grade through the high school participated in the event which featured a variety of music ranging from nursery songs to anthems.

Miss Harriett Ashbrook was the accompanist.

In the fourth grade we also have a new girl—Irene Stephens. We now have just twenty in our class. The following pupils have neither been absent nor tardy: Paul Goldhardt, Helen Haughn, Martha Reed, Robert Shauck, Lanny Strobel, and Nancy Dean.

In arithmetic the fifth grade pupils are making Bible scenes for room decorations. They are also making a world map which is to help them understand the current war problems.

The sixth grade pupils are happy to welcome Betty Seymour, Jackie Ames, and Nona Stephens as new pupils in their room. They now have thirty-four pupils.

The Conservation club which was organized at the beginning of the school term under the direction of Mr. Webb and Mr. MacBride, presented an Arbor Day program. The following members took part in the program: Lenora Shoaf, Isabel McGhee, Dolores Beavers, Helen Hinton, Gladys Bowshier, Jim Reed, Esther Lawless, and Harry Bowshier. Addresses were given by Mr. MacBride and Mrs. Fannie Brooks, the county field woman.

The Junior class met to determine where it would hold the annual junior-senior banquet. It decided to have it at the Beechwood Tavern, Columbus on May 2.

All the grades of each senior were averaged to find out who the upper six of the class were. Gladys Bowshier was announced as valedictorian; Max Neal—his-torian; Mack Drake—prophet; Helen Hinton—poet; and Leota Sprouse—will.

The Senior class play entitled "Going on Seventeen", a three act comedy, will be given Friday night, April 24. This play is directed by Miss Mabel Covrette, the class adviser. Plan to attend this hilarious comedy in three acts.

This year Scioto has two pupils on the Pickaway county scholarship team. They are Gladys and Harry Bowshier who placed first and second in the English IV selection tests. The district tests will be given Saturday, May 2, at Ohio State university.

Approximately sixty pupils attended the high school party on Tuesday night, April 14. This party was sponsored by the losing side in the magazine contest which was held at the beginning of the school term.

Regulations Are Announced For Commercial Sugar Rationing

Theatres Of City Offering Outstanding Programs

COORDINATOR OF COUNTY LISTS REQUIREMENTS

Registering Unit Must Give All Purposes For Which Sugar Is Used

OPTIONS TO BE GRANTED

Purchases May Be Made In Single Quantity Or In Four Divisions

County Coordinator George McDowell Saturday was completing plans for the registration of commercial sugar consumers next Tuesday and Wednesday, following his return from a meeting in Columbus Friday where he received information concerning the program.

Sugar sales will be frozen at midnight April 27, and Mr. McDowell pointed out that consumers will be unable to buy sugar from that date until they received their rationing books. Rationing books will be issued after consumer registration.

Facts Listed

Here are the facts listed by Coordinator McDowell which each applicant must have when he appears for registration next Tuesday and Wednesday:

A. Official title, position, or relation to the registering unit. If the applicant is the owner, a partner (in case the owner is a partnership), an officer (in case the owner is a corporation, association, or similar organization), or the manager or the owner of the registering unit, he or she is the proper person to sign and certify the registration form.

B. The applicant must state all purposes for which sugar is used by the registering unit.

a. If sugar is purchased for resale, the Registration of Retailers and Wholesalers form will be used.

b. If the sugar is used in preparing or serving meals, other than for family use, or in manufacturing or processing a product, the Registration of Institutional and Industrial Users form and the Application for Sugar Purchase Certificate will be used.

c. If sugar is used for both resale and for institutional or industrial purposes, all three of these registration forms will be used.

d. In all cases, the applicant must sign the form in the presence of the registrar.

C. Those firms that will use the form for Retailers and Wholesalers will be required to furnish certain information to the registrar.

Retail Dealers

1. If the registering unit sells at retail answer the following: (A unit shall be deemed to sell at retail if over 50 percent of its sales of all merchandise during April, 1942, was made to household consumers.)

a. Gross sales of all meats, groceries, fruits and vegetables, etc., for week ending April 25, 1942, or if registering unit began operation after April 20, 1942, give estimated sales for the first complete calendar week of operations.

b. Sugar delivered to and accepted by registering unit during the month of November, 1941.

c. Present inventory (Number of pounds of sugar now owned by registering unit for sale).

2. If registering unit sells at wholesale, answer the following: (A unit shall be deemed to sell at wholesale if over 50 percent of its gross sales during April, 1942, was made to persons other than household consumers.)

a. Number of months in 1941 during which registering unit made deliveries of sugar.

b. Quantity of sugar delivered to and accepted by the registering unit during 1941.

Inventory Asked

c. Present inventory (Number of pounds of sugar now owned by registering unit, for sale).

3. Specific instructions are furnished to the registrar relative to the quantity of sugar for which purchase certificates are to be issued to the registering unit. The applicant has the option of applying for the total quantity of sugar in one certificate, or in as many as four certificates, and may elect to have the certificates issued for different amounts. For example: if the registering unit is entitled to 1,000 pounds of sugar, four certificates may be issued divided as follows: 350 pounds, 250 pounds, 200 pounds, and 200 pounds, (or in any other amounts).

Information Asked

D. Those who will use the form for Institutional and Industrial Users will be required to furnish the following information.

a. Present inventory: Number of pounds of sugar now owned by the registering unit.

b. The amount of sugar used
